NAZIS FIRE ON DANES FLEEING COUNTRY

Nazis Flee Southern Anchor of Russian Line

ALL POSITIONS IN AREA FACE SOVIET THREAT

Taganrog Reported Destroyed Before Nazi Troops Are Ordered Withdrawn.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 30—The Germans announced today the abandonment of Taganrog, southern anchor of the 1,500-mile Russian front, in a surprise retreat indicating the Nazis' entire southern front positions are crumbling.

With the fall of this important Sea of Azov port to the victoriously onrushing Red army, the capture of Stalino, Hitler's southern front headquarters 70 miles to the northwest, may follow soon.

Taganrog, said the Germans in their daily high command communique, was "evacuated according to plan" after being "completely destroyed."

The fall of Taganrog came as a surprise, since there had been no reports of heavy fighting in this region recently from either Moscow or Berlin, but the position of the city had been obviously imperiled since the Russians captured the railway station of Donetsko-Amvrosievka just a week ago, cutting Taganrog's only rail line to the north and west. Donetsko-Amvrosievka is 40 miles north of Taganrog.

Whole Flank Threatened

Evacuation of Taganrog makes it clear that the whole right flank of the German army is compromised and indicates that a general pulling back, started with the Soviet offensive in the Donets basin a few days ago, has been stepped up.

There was no immediate indication whether the Germans would attempt to stand a few miles west of Taganrog on the west bank of the Mius river, or withdraw some 60 miles farther to the west to Mariupol.

Taganrog, a city with a normal population of 70,000, was taken by the Germans early in the summer of 1942 after changing hands twice in 1941.

The Soviet communique today indicated that fast-moving Soviet columns south and west of Kharkov are threatening 800,000 Nazi troops in the Donets basin salient with possible encirclement.

50 Villages Taken

Hard-driving Russian troops advanced 3 to 7½ miles to recapture 50 villages, including the railroad junction of Lyubotin, 25 miles west of Kharkov on the Kursk-Kiev line, the war bulletin announced.

The push seemed aimed at bypassing the big Nazi base at Poltava, 85 miles to the south and west of Kharkov, on the north. At the same time another Soviet spearhead further south was pointing in the direction of Krasnograd, in a drive apparently aimed at pinching off the base just as the Nazi bastion at Orel was cut off earlier this summer.

Action on the Kharkov and Voroshilovgrad fronts thus seemed to be rapidly blending into one gigantic drive by which the Russians hoped to reach the eastward bend of the Dnieper river somewhere in the vicinity of Dnieperpropetrovsk, thus imperilling the whole Nazi position in the Donets basin.

The Russian communique indicated that the southern end of the long eastern battle line was at present the focal point of the summer offensive, but the columns which were stalled temporarily in the advance upon the important Nazi base at Bryansk 200 miles southwest of Moscow by unfavorable terrain and heavy German demolitions, were again on the move.

The war bulletin announced that the Red army had advanced nine miles and had captured 40 villages in the sector south of Bryansk.

JAPS MAKE STRONG STAND AT SALAMAUA

By The Associated Press

Allied troops closing in upon Salamaua in New Guinea have been pushed back slightly at some points by hard Japanese attacks, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today, but in the Solomons to the east allied forces have gone ashore unopposed on Arundel island.

Ground forces "are now consolidated" after the Friday landing on Arundel that until recently harbored Japanese units, Arundel lies just west of New Georgia islan, and puts the allies within artillery range of the enemy on Kolombangara.

The Japanese are fighting fiercely all along the front at Salamaua, with their backs to the strategic airdrome there, thrusting out frequent counter-attacks and "our troops have been forced to give ground slightly in some points," it was announced.

Heavy allied air attacks lashed out again at the enemy, with Flying Fortresses destroying three jetties and 20 barges at Voco Point near Lae, 100 miles east of Salamaua. Medium Mitchells on Saturday wrecked a 2,000-ton ship, a patrol moat and 31 barges and luggers in a raid on Hansa bay, halfway between Wewak and Madang on New Guinea's northeast coast.

In Burma, RAF planes sank upwards of 60 loaded sampans in the Irrawaddy and Hunters bay areas, returning without loss. B-24 bombers dropped 18 tons of bombs on Jap-occupied Myitkyina.

Two Counties Added To War Manpower Area

Completing the division of Ohio into 12 districts for war manpower commission administrative purposes, state WMC officers today announced the addition of Erie and Huron counties to the Marion-Mansfield area. The area, in addition to those counties, includes Marion, Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Wyandot, Hardin, Morrow and Knox counties.

Fred B. Scherff, manager of the U. S. Employment Service office here, will continue as assistant WMC director here. The area will be headed by Marcus J. Kintz of Sandusky as area director.

Bulgarian Unrest Threatens More Balkan Trouble

By The Associated Press

ISTANBUL, Aug. 30—Bulgaria, unsettled by the death of King Boris, presented a potential problem to Adolf Hitler today as Premier Bogdan Philov strove to reconcile conflicting elements in the nation which made his position none too secure.

The five-member regency which, according to German broadcasts, will rule in behalf of the boy king Simeon II, apparently is dominated by an anti-German, pro-British church leader—the metropolitan of Sofia, Stefan, who has protested against gestapo activity in Bulgaria and against anti-Semitic laws.

The queen mother Ioanna, second member of the regency, also is regarded as anti-German. Prince Kyril, brother of the late king, and Philov are both pro-German; while the fifth regent is a politically unknown supreme court justice.

Composed of such diverse elements, it seems highly unlikely that this regency will be able to prevent the orphaned Philov government from collapsing and being replaced with a military cabinet.

In that event the leader of the government probably would be selected from the military hierarchy which is pro-German. Such a government doubtless would be pliant to German desires and might break off relations with Russia and agree to assume the chief burden of the defense of Greece or even participate in the Russian war.

LOSS $20,000 IN KENTON FIRE

125 Persons Make Orderly Exit at Theater Blaze; 3 Firemen Hurt.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 30—An audience of approximately 125 persons made an orderly exit from the Ohio theater here last night when fire gutted the large brick showhouse shortly before 7 o'clock. Damage was estimated at $20,000 by W. D. Ward, owner and manager of the theater, and Mrs. Mabel Pfeiffer, who owns the building. Both have insurance. Mr. Ward placed an estimate of $16,000 on his equipment and Mrs. Pfeiffer valued her property at $4,000.

One fireman, Jack Rall, suffered a sprained wrist in fighting the blaze, and three volunteer firemen were injured. They are John W. Moore, who suffered a severed artery from broken glass, Robert Thomas, bruises and cuts resulting from a fall from a ladder and Frank Rogers a cut on his hand, caused from broken glass.

The fire started in a waste paper basket on a rear porch of the theater and was swept through the building by an air conditioning fan when Manager Ward opened the rear door after smelling smoke.

Fire Chief Ralph Jones, himself a member of the audience, took charge of directing persons from the theater and he was assisted by Manager Ward and Mrs. Everett Harris.

Assisting the fire department were members of the civilian defense organization, called on for the first time to assist with an emergency. Chief Jones today praised the work of the volunteers in assisting the firemen and in taking charge of traffic.

The smoke and water also damaged a storeroom over the theater and two business rooms adjoining the theater belonging to J. S. Clover and A. R. Youngpeters and one occupied by the Sears & Roebuck order office.

Manager Ward stated that as soon as a desirable location could be found he would open his theater.

ITALIAN RAIL CENTER NORTH OF ROME HIT

Fortresses Smash Yards at Orte, 40 Miles from Italian Capital.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 30 — Flying Fortresses struck at Orte, railway center 40 miles north of Rome, for the first time, and medium bombers delivered heavy new blows at vital rail targets in Torre Annunziata on the bay of Naples yesterday in the methodical destruction of the Italian communications system.

At the same time light and medium bombers, divebombers and fighters ranged over the toe of Italy, encountering only slight opposition in the area already reported nearly deserted.

Yards Hit Again

After the heavy pounding by American B-26 Marauders, Torre Annunziata railway yards again were smashed last night by RAF Canadian Wellingtons.

Twenty enemy planes were destroyed in the day and night operations, 17 of them shot down by bombers and a fighter escort in the raids on Orte and Torre are missing.

A British cruiser and destroyer Annunziata. Three allied planes bombarded an enemy battery near Cape Pellaro on the southern Calabrian coast Saturday.

Allied fliers back from weekend aerial blows against southern and central Italy reported the axis appeared to have withdrawn the greater part of its forces from that southernmost part of Italy.

Rome Reports Damage

(Rome reported in its daily communique, recorded by The Associated Press, that Orte, in the vicinity of Naples, Salerno and Catanzaro had been raided and that considerable damage was caused. Seven allied aircraft were reported shot down.)

A complete lack of defensive action around the strait of Messina and deeper inland surprised tactical air force raiders.

Previously, both anti-aircraft guns and artillery had been very active in that area.

HORNET LAUNCHED AT NEWPORT NEWS

By The Associated Press

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Aug. 30—A great name in the history of the United States Navy was reborn with the launching of the aircraft carrier "Hornet" amid cheers of spectators who a moment later heard Secretary of Navy Knox hit broadly at plans for large scale aerial blows against Tokyo.

Last year's bombing of the Rising Sun capital was "only a small sample of far bigger raids to come," Knox asserted in a speech a moment after his wife sent a bottle of champagne foaming over the bow of the ship which replaces the flat-top of the same name sunk last year in the Santa Cruz islands.

The launching was delayed 45 minutes because of faulty functioning of the launching mechanism. A few minutes before the Hornet was to slide into the James River, J. B. Woodward, vice president and general manager of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, told several hundred spectators the launching would have to be postponed several days. Later, however, he said the ceremony would proceed, that there had been no accident, but that the hydraulic pressure holding the ship in place had threatened to build up so rapidly that it was necessary to proceed with caution in the launching of such a heavy ship.

BOATS SUNK AS PEOPLE TRY TO REACH SWEDEN

Big Fires Still Blaze in Harbor as Scuttled Warships Burn.

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 30—Big fires blazed fiercely today among the scuttled hulks of Denmark's naval vessels in Copenhagen harbor, and offshore Nazi patrol boats and planes shot at Danes fleeing a new German military dictatorship clamped on the rebellious kingdom.

Refugees streaming into Sweden said scores of persons drowned as Nazi gunners sank many small motorboats, sailboats and fishing smacks in the Oeresund between Denmark and Sweden.

The Germans ignored the usual Copenhagen blackout during the night. Street lights blazed brightly as patrols in tanks and armored cars toured the city enforcing the martial law decreed by the German military commander who had interned the aged King Christian X in his castle and set up Nazi rule to replace that of the resigned Danish government.

The fires in the harbor area could be seen from the Swedish coast. A series of explosions set them off at dawn yesterday as Danish naval forces sent the greater part of their small navy to the bottom.

The Germans' drastic action was the upshot of a series of violent disorders in the tiny country during the past two weeks.

Nine naval ships, two of them small destroyers, reached Swedish ports yesterday. Another torpedo boat arrived at Landskrona last night, raising to 10 the number now docked in Sweden.

Cabinet, King Interned

One of the latest reports reaching Sweden said members of the cabinet, including Prime Minister Eric Scavenius, were in internment with King Christian at Sorgenfri castle.

The cabinet conferred with the king until the early hours Sunday before Gen. Hermann Von Hannecken, German commander in Denmark, issued his proclamation at 4:10 a. m. announcing Nazi martial law.

The king threatened to abdicate if the cabinet accepted a drastic ultimatum submitted by German Minister Werner Best on Saturday. The cabinet's flat rejection of the demands signalled the end of Danish collaboration and the smashing of the German effort to establish Denmark as a showcase model for other occupied countries.

The Danish radio later announced that Von Hannecken had taken over all court and civil functions. The radio broadcast a warning that courts martial would be established immediately to mete out the death penalty and other severe sentences for violators of the martial law.

Danish laws will be revised along Nazi lines, in addition to "a new arrangement of the public life of Denmark," the Von Hannecken announcement said. It added that loyal civil servants would be retained under German control.

Report All Quiet

(The Nazi-controlled Kalundborg radio in Denmark, meanwhile, was recorded by U. S. government monitors as asserting: "It can now be stated that absolute quiet reigns all over the country." The broadcast added that the "state administration and all enterprises, including those hitherto on strike, are now working.")

The light coastal defense ship Niels Iuel was one of the vessels that tried to escape, but it was sunk by a German torpedo plane in the Ise fjord. The 30-year-old warship was commanded by Captain Earl Westermann, vice-chairman of the Danish house of commons, and there were reports here that a number of prominent persons were among the 369 persons aboard who were reported saved and landed at Helsingoer.

Three more Danish naval ships carrying a total of about 75 persons reached Sweden this morning.

Marine and royal guard forces fought a spirited battle with German troops who tried to invade the royal barracks and naval yard in Copenhagen as the scuttling was in progress.

Forty-five vessels of various types, including two new destroyers and nine submarines, were sunk, ammunition dumps blown up, and harbor fortifications wrecked.

Nazi troops surrounded the royal palace at Amalienborg, but the royal guard blocked all entrances and exchanged gunfire with the Germans. Resistance ceased only when King Christian X gave the order.

Held in Castle

The venerable king, 73 next month, was interned in Sorgenfri castle outside Copenhagen.

Opening Day of Fair Attracts Crowds Estimated at 23,000

Soldiers' Drill, Engineer Depot Exhibit, Horse Show and Song and Dance Group on Program.

By EDNA E. DUTTON

Crowds estimated to total 23,000 were on hand to launch Marion county's 93rd annual county fair and agricultural exposition yesterday at the fairgrounds. Fair officials estimated that 15,000 were on the grounds in the afternoon, approximately 2,000 were in the grandstand for the horse show last night, while an estimated crowd of 6,000 walked about the grounds, visiting the concessions, enjoying the rides, shows and other entertainment features.

Highlighting the afternoon was the close order drill staged by 100 soldiers from Camp Millard, Bucyrus, under the command of Lt. Col. Frank E. Cheshire, and the exhibit from the Marion Engineer Depot in charge of Major Forrest E. Jones. Talks were given by both Lt. Col. Cheshire and Major Jones.

Songs and dancing featured entertainment staged by Miss Virginia Grover and her troupe of performers. Miss Grover and her company, made up of local talent, have been performing in camps and before civic groups, and on these occasions, as well as yesterday, won the hearty applause of her audiences.

Night Program Feature

The horse show, staged last night under the lights in front of the grandstand, was highlighted with entertaining events. The show, the second to be staged in connection with the fair, is sponsored by the Woman's Board of the Marion City hospital and will be repeated tonight and Tuesday night, starting at 8 o'clock. Single admissions will be sold at the gate. The advance sale of tickets was put on by the board members who will use the proceeds to aid in equipping the new wing of the City hospital.

Admittance to the fair was free yesterday until evening when a charge was made to the grounds and grandstand.

Tuesday's entertainment program for the afternoon will be provided by WMRN Jamboree featuring the Chuck Wagon Pals with Anna Mae Thomas, the Ozark Mountain Boys with the Golden Voiced Tenor, the Cochran Sisters, Frankie and Johnnie, Ken and his Melody Lads, and Bob Gross as master of ceremonies. There also will be local talent specialties. All performances will be presented in front of the grandstand.

Wednesday afternoon's entertainment bill of fare will be Gus Sun's Victory Grandstand Stars featuring the famous Corn Huskers.

Local Horses Entered

This year's horse show which is the second to be staged in connection with the Marion county fair—the first was last year when a two-night program was sponsored by the Women's Hospital Board—drew some of the best mid-western show horses and several locally owned horses. While several horses did not appear last night as scheduled, there was nothing lacking in the way of quality and entertainment.

Various horses and riders, while not capturing top honors, were among the fairest winners and came in for a generous share of applause from the spectators. A three-horse team owned by Miss Virginia Grover was second honors in the class to model fine

21 DEAD COUNTED IN ALABAMA MINE BLAST

By The Associated Press

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 30—Twenty-one dead were counted today from the two gas explosions which late Saturday and early yesterday tore through the Republic Steel Corporation's No. 2 Sayreton coal mine here.

Twenty - three others were burned, several of them critically.

Among the dead were E. J. McCrossin, chief state mine inspector; George Ferguson, Sayreton night superintendent; and William Goodwin, chief mine inspector here for Republic. They headed rescue parties which entered the mine after their first blast.

E. I. Evans, southern district manager for Republic, said in a statement:

"The first explosion (at 10:20 p. m. Saturday) seriously interrupted the ventilating system and damaged the stoppings, doors and regulators in the ninth left section area. The second explosion at 12:40 a. m. yesterday was more violent and extended the damage which already existed and started eight small fires."

Evans said the origin of the explosions was unknown.

Ohio Troops Help Drive Last Japs from New Georgia Island

Following is an eye-witness account of the fall of Bairoko, New Georgia, by Art Burgess, Associated Press war correspondent and the only American reporter at the front line. The publishment of Bairoko harbor was announced in communiques issued by General Douglas MacArthur.

By ARTHUR BURGESS

WITH ADVANCED AMERICAN INFANTRY ON NEW GEORGIA, Aug. 29—(Delayed)—Bairoko harbor, last Japanese stronghold in New Georgia, fell during the night to U. S. invasion forces and with it disappeared all serious enemy opposition in the surrounding area.

The harbor's eastern shore was taken by Army units composed chiefly of Ohio men.

Troops made up mostly of men from the state of Washington first secured the harbor's Western shore in an advance negotiated under the most horrible conditions imaginable.

I was the only American reporter at the front when the cease-fire order was issued at 7:05 o'clock last night from a command post near Bairoko.

Our units had been prepared to send Japanese pockets on the eastern shore, but the enemy was driven into Kula gulf or escaped under cover of darkness to Kolombangara Island about nine miles off Bairoko. Only Japanese stragglers remained.

Possibly 10,000 Japanese now occupy the whole island which now is within range of our artillery and surrounded on two sides by Vella LaVella and New Georgia.

Every man of our forces was soaked to the skin during the advance as they ploughed up deep through foul swamps and jungles. Many men were naked save for loin cloths, as clothes were useless. The loin cloths, made from chutes which had been used to drop food—the only way to supply some posts because of terrible natural hazards—made the men look like strange animals, with green and red silk around their waists, and covered with stinking red mud and bugs.

Supply men accomplished almost incredible feats of endurance. They packed 45 pounds of rations on their backs, in addition to a rifle and gear, and walked miles through jungles, steep muddy banks and numerous streams of the mangrove swamp in which it took up to an hour to negotiate a single mile.

Scores of heroic feats have been turned in here by these men from Ohio.

At daybreak this morning, our forces signalled each other from opposite shores of Bairoko harbor, about 300 yards wide at that particular point.

First to occupy the east shore were Maj. Marvin D. Girardeau and Capt. David N. Marshall, both of Lakewood, O.

Ohioans and Washingtonians greeted each other with shouts and waving arms from the opposite shores, ending a 48-day struggle in the north of New Georgia island.

Several weeks ago it was officially announced that one of the principal forces on New Georgia island was troops from the 37th division, made up largely of men from Ohio. Marion's Company D, Ohio National Guard, originally was part of the 37th as a unit in the 166th infantry. The 166th, however, was taken from the 37th while the division was in training at Camp Shelby. Other troops from central Ohio, however, still are in the 37th, including Kenton's Co. E. Seven Co. E death casualties on New Georgia island were reported last week in addition to several wounded.

The Ohio troops landed on New Georgia to take the Munda airfield and after accompishing this task continued to drive the Japanese from the island.

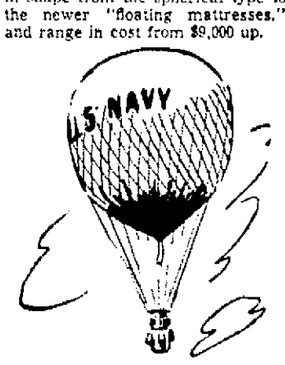
What You Buy With WAR BONDS

High Over Europe

Closer and closer to Hitler's citadel move the troops of the United Nations and with them go hundreds and hundreds of barrage balloons designed to keep marauding enemy aircraft at safe distances. They vary in shape from the spherical type to the newer "floating mattresses," and range in cost from $9,000 up.



They're used by the Army, the Navy, Marines and Coast Guard. Like War Bonds they're not spectacular, but they play an essential part in modern warfare.

The best way to be sure you are doing your part in this war is to do all you can, and then a little more. Back the Attack with an extra $100 War Bond in the Third War Loan.

CAMP BIZERTE TOUGHENS MEN

Colorado Post Prepares Soldiers for Army Life at Battle Line.

By International News Service

CAMP BIZERTE, Colo.—Some 30 miles east of Denver as the jeep flies, through shimmering desert-like heat and over wind-swept sand and prairies, you may come, quite suddenly, on Bizerte.

Not the North African outpost to be sure—but Camp Bizerte, an army training post designed to give soldiers, battle-bound, a taste of life in Tunisia or some overseas war area.

Camp Bizerte, said to be the first of its kind in the Rocky Mountain region, was an innovation of Brig. Gen. Albert Sneed new commanding officer of Lowry Field, and will be used as an auxiliary training camp of Lowry, the large Army air force technical training command field.

Provides Tough Training

General Sneed, in making official disclosure of the camp to a group of newsmen, stated that after personal observations in Australia and other war areas, he felt that Camp Bizerte would provide a type of training that the American soldier seemed to need most.

Sneed pointed out that it was revealed in Tunisia and other frontline areas that a soldier coming directly from the comparative comforts and conveniences of a standard army base, with its extensive equipment, etc., was sometimes ill-prepared to meet the primitive living conditions encountered in a war theater.

At Camp Bizerte, the soldier is taught to put his classroom theories into actual practice. He is required to learn complete independence in all things. Thus, having no extensive equipment or facilities to rely on, he must construct what he needs from raw materials at hand.

Camouflage Is Taught

A great deal of the soldier's time is spent in making the camp invisible from enemy observers. According to Capt. Vernon P. Doughty Bzerte's commanding officer, the camp has been constructed so as to be completely camouflaged from air and ground. Well-worn trails from the mess area to the men's tents, for instance are strewn with grass and small trees are transplanted to aid in the camouflage.

Capt. Doughty revealed that armorer students are given the opportunity to load, camouflage and service planes, under as near actual battle contditions as possible. The students, having no tools or equipment such as would be available at a main base, are taught to improvise make-shift equipment to load bomb racks, make repairs and replacements on planes.

The old saying, "An army travels on its stomach" makes the "jungle kitchen" one of the most interesting features of the camp's training.

Here in the jungle kitchen, student cooks learn how to whip up a meal for 500 men or more starting with nothing more than a match and an old oil can. Out of an oven constructed of earth and a discarded oil drum the kitchen utensils made from old tomato cans, plus a primtive barbecue pit or two, anything from a fancy tea to a full size troop meal can be prepared.

No Hot Showers

The post is no picnic area. There are no hot showers, warm beds or handy USO centers, It is strictly "in the rough." The soldiers learn to pitch pup tents, eat from mess kits, prepare a camp sanitation program, work on a commando style obstacle course, and in general find out how many things an enterprising soldier can do for himself when everything isn't "cut and dred" and a matter of routine.

Capt. Doughty said that henceforth a period at Camp Bizerte would be considered as a necessary post-graduate training course for all air force students, prior to overseas duty.

MARION MAN GRANTED PATENT ON NEW LOCK

Homer L. Hull Invents Unit Adaptable to New Keys.

A Marion man, Homer L. Hull of the Hull Lock & Key shop at 155 North Main street, has been granted a patent on a pin tumbler locking mechanism by the U. S. patent office.

The mechanism is the same as that used on store doors, offices and residences, operates in both night locks and padlocks and is adaptable to any pin tumbler mechanism. In the changing of keys for locks now in use it is necessary to remove the locks from the door and take them apart in order to change the combination; then the lock must be assembled and returned to the door.

Mr. Hull's invention makes it possible to change the combination instantly by using the regular key to set the cylinder in a neutral position. Then the new key is inserted in the lock and this automatically sets the combination to the new key. Upon completion of the process all other keys used for the lock become useless. The change can be made without removing the lock from the door.

Mr. Hull lives at 243 West Pleasant street.

Kenton Woman Receives Gift After Sender Dies

KENTON, O., Aug. 30—A memorial gift was received Saturday by Miss Helen Jones, Kenton manager for the United States Employment Service, from her fiance, Pfc. Jack Caster, killed July 30 in fighting on New Guinea island in this southwest Pacific.

In the package, which came on the eve of memorial services for him in First Methodist church, the young soldier sent a bracelet he had hammered from metal, some gaily colored sea shells he had picked along a South Pacific beach, and a Chinese game, "Four Winds," which he said cost him $41 in American money.

Lack of Blacksmiths Delays Modern Pioneer

By The Associated Press

ASHTABULA, O., Aug. 30—The scarcity of blacksmiths has slowed George Martin's 1,200-mile journey—pioneer style—to Minnesota.

The 86-year-old farmer left Painesville, O., Aug. 9 in a home-made prairie schooner, and has reached the Indiana-Illinois border after a delay in search of a horse-shoer, his wife reported today.

Mrs. Martin, who receives mail periodically from her husband, said his main trouble was finding blacksmiths to shoe his three Percheron thoroughbreds, but otherwise "he is getting along fine." Martin estimated about 700 miles per set of shoes, she added.

Formerly employed on a Lake county farm, the modern pioneer intends to settle on his 360-acre plot near International Falls, clear the timber and building his own log cabin "as my ancestors did."

116,170 "Ideas for Victory"

FROM G.M. WAR WORKERS

. . . and General Motors Is Rewarding That Spirit at the Rate of a Million Dollars a Year

Floyd C. Fox, a General Motors employe for 27 years, has received two $1,000 War Bonds for suggestions to improve methods of manufacturing parts of an aviation engine.

For a suggestion resulting in simplification of machine gun manufacture, submitted after she had worked in the gun plant only six months, Miss Esther Wrona received a $1,000 War Bond.

In all of its 112 plants in 50 cities of the United States and Canada, General Motors encourages employe suggestions for aiding war production, through a carefully planned system of awards. General Motors has always welcomed suggestions from employes. In fact, there have been similar suggestion plans in various G.M. plants for years, and it was thought that an expansion of these plans in these times would increase war production efficiency.

As a result, G.M. war workers have to date contributed 116,170 written ideas. Yes, written ideas. Many of them good ideas, "Victory Ideas." Nearly 20,000 of them have been winning ideas and have been put into operation. For the open mind policy of General Motors accords a fair test to every suggestion.

Eight thousand four hundred ideas were submitted the very first month. They are now coming in at a monthly rate of better than 10,000, or a yearly rate of one idea for every three workers.

Thus, the individual war workers of General Motors are being given full opportunity to add their bit to the continuing contributions of management, supervision and engineering, in those activities which deal with increasing production, saving materials, lowering costs and promoting plant safety.

Helping Those Who Help America

In the first 15 months' operation of its plan to reward workers for ideas that assist our war effort, General Motors paid out $660,895 in War Bonds and Stamps. And today the awards are being made at the rate of better than a million dollars a year.

General Motors considers that money well spent. It is a merited reward to those who help America. It is a proper incentive for individual initiative. It is one form of appreciation to those who think as they work—who are not content merely to perform the requirements of their jobs.

Something Better, Faster

Americans are always interested in finding ways to do things better and faster.

This American spirit among General Motors men and women—now also increased by the desire to help win Victory and to back the men at the war fronts—accounts for their inspiring performance.

There must be a great inward satisfaction for all who have submitted suggestions, in the realization that they have made some effort out of the ordinary to help win the war.

They can say of themselves, as General Motors says—"Victory Is Our Business!"

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

SOME FACTS REGARDING G.M. EMPLOYE AWARDS

Total suggestions to date	116,170
Present monthly rate of suggestions	10,621
Suggestions put into effect	19,995
Amount in awards to date (purchase price of War Bonds and Stamps)	$660,895
Present yearly rate of awards	$1,087,440
Maximum award (War Bond, face value)	$1,000

The character of the suggestions accepted is indicated by the following proportions of amounts paid in awards:

War production ideas — to increase production, save materials or reduce costs	66.9%
Ideas to increase safety	21.6%
Miscellaneous ideas	11.5%

Details of the General Motors plan to encourage employe suggestions will gladly be sent to interested individuals or companies.

We All Can Help!

In addition to their contributions of ideas to help win the war—and to the vital importance of their regular jobs in supplying war materials—General Motors men and women are participating in all forms of war activities. . . . They have set aside more than 10 per cent of their wages for War Bonds! War Bonds buy war materials. And the more we give in materials, the fewer lives we'll give for Victory.

Leader of Untouchable Class in Favor of Abolishing Caste System in India

By WALTER L. BRIGGS
UP Staff Correspondent

NEW DELHI India—Dr Bhimrao Ramji Ambedkar, the 'untouchables' champion who became the first of his group ever to serve on the Viceroy's executive council, thinks the Indian National congress is putting first things second.

"Because of their emotional emphasis on independence from Britain, congress leaders are paying no attention to the more important question of the kind of government they want to build thereafter," youthful-appearing 50-year-old American-educated Mr Ambedkar told me.

"Congress has no ideals whatsoever for reconstruction," he said. "However, there are plenty of people outside congress with intellectual capacities 100 times superior to congressmen who are thinking along these lines."

He said the 51,000,000 untouchables fearing majority Hindu control in an independent India, just as did the Moslems.

"We have been so badly treated by the Hindus in the last 2,000 years that if under a new constitution we get no political safeguards we know the Hindus will make our position even worse. Gandhi says they may be trusted, but we don't believe it."

Social Outcasts

Untouchables are the lowest caste in India. They are allowed only the most menial jobs, forbidden education and entrance into Hindu temples, denied use of community wells.

Dr. Ambedkar knows the plight of his people from bitter personal experience. As one of the few untouchables able to push into elementary schools, he was forced to sit on a gunny sack in a classroom corner. He could not touch the school water tap. Later, as a successful Bombay lawyer, he was confined to a one-room tenement home.

I met Asiatic spectacled Dr. Ambedkar in his spacious, high-ceilinged office in the Government of India's Secretariat where he is watching the interests of his people and of all India's workers as Labor member of the Viceroy's executive council.

He reached his lofty position, unequalled by another untouchable in India's history, through years of diligence. His scholastic abilities so impressed the Gaekwar of Baroda that the prince sent him to Columbia university, where he earned a Ph.D., then to London and Germany. His success as a lawyer defending his people led him into politics and since 1926 he has battled Mahatma Gandhi and caste Hindus, three times traveling to London for the Round Table conferences.

Gandhi for Caste

Dr. Ambedkar stands for abolition of caste; Gandhi for a better deal for untouchables within caste.

"However, the wiping away of caste can't be done by us," he told me. "We are the victims of it."

He stands for dominion status rather than complete independence and believes that the Moslems are foolish in demanding Pakistan (devided India), but that congress could not prevent them from effecting it.

"The question of Pakistan is simple enough," he declared. "If 90,000,000 Moslems don't want a congress constitution, it can't be forced on them."

As for American relations with India, Dr. Ambedkar said "I can quite foresee the difficulty of the United States trying to force a solution of the Indian problem."

One of his major jobs now is preparation of a bill to be presented before the central legislature providing for compulsory recognition of unions, which he described as "the first step in India's history toward trade unionism."

NEW COMMISSIONS FACE LEGAL TEST

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30 — A puzzling legal problem involving constitutionality of two new state commissions and legality of several state senate and house memberships faced Gov. Bricker today upon his scheduled return from a western vacation trip.

His executive secretary, Emory Glander, had prepared a report of conferences between administration leaders which indicated the supreme court might be called on to decide whether the legislative membership should be decimated and the commissions abolished.

Crux of the question was this constitutional clause:

"No senator or representative shall, during the term for which he shall have been elected, or for one year thereafter, be appointed to any civil office under this state, which shall be created or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the term for which he shall have been elected."

Senate and house officers and a dozen more legislators are members of the post-war planning commission and four members are on the commission for the erection of state schools—both created by the present general assembly.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson declared he would investigate carefully the legality of the commissions and the status of legislative members before approving any expenditures. Commission members receive no salary but are paid expenses.

Governor Bricker wound up his week's vacation at Sundance, Wyo., with a Sunday scenic tour. The ranch where he stayed was visited during the week by a number of western Republican leaders, state officials and newspaper publishers, adding to speculation on the prospects of his becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

Galion Board To Ask Tax Levy of Two Mills

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug 30 — For discussion this week at the regular meeting of the Galion board of education will be the petitions that are being circulated asking the board of education to request a half-mill levy from the voters at the Nov. 2 election for further development and maintenance of Heise Park and the youth and adult recreational program in this community.

The general taxation levy would provide about $6,000 to existing and future needs of the program.

Decisions to place community activities on a sound financial basis to provide a planned program for year around recreation was reached at a meeting of interested citizens held in the office of Supt. M. A. Povenmire at Galion High school, Aug. 23.

Petitions asking for the levy were circulated during the past week among civic organizations and factories. Funds derived from the levy would provide a new shelter house, rest rooms, picnic and playground equipment and adequate supervision and maintenance at the park during the entire year.

The swastika, generally interpreted as a sun symbol, is the most ancient of religious forms, used by early peoples in both hemispheres.

What kind of a house would you put here?

AFTER THE WAR, somebody's going to put up a new house on that pretty rise of ground that overlooks the river bend just outside of the town line. Nothing elaborate. Just a pretty little house snuggled into the trees as though it belonged there.

Somebody else may buy the old Ward farm. There should be many a good day's hunting in those rolling fields and back through the woods over to the State road. Fixed up a little bit—and it shouldn't take much money—it would be a livable place for a man and his family.

Yes, somebody's going to buy it. Somebody's always coming along, with a dream and a little money, and doing the things we'd promised ourselves we'd do someday.

But this time, why can't that "somebody" be you?

Look . . . Suppose you put 10% of your pay into War Bonds. At least 10%—more if you possibly can. And KEEP putting it away—putting it away—putting it away. Week after week—payday after payday. Here's what happens:

Before you know it, you get so you hardly miss that money. And if you do miss it, you've got something better to replace it—the knowledge that you, personally, are helping to insure a steady flow of planes and tanks and guns to the men who fight. The knowledge that you, personally, have toed the mark and are helping to win the war.

Then, one of these days, when peace has come again, the money you've put away starts coming back to you. And bringing more money with it—you get four dollars for every three that you put in!

When that day comes, you can get out your pencil and start figuring just what kind of a house you'll put on the river bend.

But to be sure that day does come, you'd better do this: You'd better get out your pencil right now and start figuring how you can save at least 10% of every single pay check with U. S. War Bonds!

Multiple Fronts

APPOINTMENT of Lord Louis Mountbatten as supreme Allied commander in southeast Asia signifies to Americans and Britons, as it does to the Japanese, that military pressure will develop on the Asiatic mainland.

It conveys to Russia, at the same time, a pointed reminder of British-American responsibilities in prosecuting the war against Japan. While Russian insistence on a second front against Germany on the mainland of Europe continues, Great Britain and the United States must deal realistically with the problem of the Axis member in the Pacific.

They must fight a war on multiple fronts; a second front in Europe is only one of the multifold necessities of their strategy against the Axis. Obviously, theirs is a tougher problem of dispersion than that of Russia, which would be relieved if a large number of German divisions had to be subtracted from Russian territory. They might speculate on the similar advantage that would accrue from Russia's participation in the war against Japan, though they have refrained from doing so.

It now seems probable that a decision has been taken to press the war with Japan during, instead of after, the climax of the war with Germany. This may explain Russia's recent indications of dissatisfaction when it withdrew its ambassadors from Washington and London. There may have been a clash between British-American realism about getting on with the job in Asia and Russian realism about getting on with the job in western Russia. The probability of a second front to help Russia has not been ruled out, but meanwhile the necessity of a second front to help the United States, Great Britain and China clearly has been ruled in.

Mrs. Roosevelt Slept There

NEW ZEALAND, primarily a farming country, has numerous rivers, many lakes and a diversity of scenery. It is a self-governing British dominion and aggregates 103,934 square miles, including all its many islands. Its discoverer, in 1642, was Abel Janszoon Tasman, a Dutch navigator, whose name is perpetuated in Tasmania. New Zealanders boast the second lowest death rate and the lowest infant mortality rate in the world. Fishing is a national pastime. The native race (Maoris) are Polynesians of high caliber, who number less than 100,000 in a population of 1,640,901. The country has a favorable trade balance. Its monetary unit is the pound, with an average value of $3.25. The climate ranges from sub-tropical in the north to mildly temperate in the south. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President of the United States, visited the country in the late summer of 1943.

Spend It Wisely

THE smoke was still rising from Pearl Harbor when congress came to the decision that it is cheaper to spend money than lives. Since that time every request of the army, navy and air force for funds has been answered promptly with an appropriation and with less quibbling than congress ever saw when so great an issue was concerned.

Appropriations now available for carrying on the war amount to $203,000,000,000 or enough to run the war for the next two years. Now congress has gotten around to the point of asking the military for an accounting as to how this money is to be spent.

Senator Byrd's committee on non-essential spending is calling on all the war agencies for a statement. This is the first step in a program for curbing unnecessary spending. There has been a lot of it during these first 20 months of war. It has been excused because the main thing was to get ready for war and to get ready quickly.

By this time, many lessons have been learned, many mistakes discovered and some of them corrected and it is time to get war expenditures down to an efficient basis with as much economy as is consistent with the most vigorous prosecution of the war.

Congress, the treasury department and other agencies are hunting in all the corners for ways to find new taxes and increase revenues. They are referred to Cicero who said: "Men do not realize how great a revenue economy is."

So They Say—

Should we be indignant? No. But, woe to you Germans! The Germans will no longer regard themselves as a master race. With signs the Germans will carry brick and mortar.—Alexei Tolstoy, Russian writer, commenting on Nazis' branding of Red prisoners.

After the war we want to see the vast majority of jobs provided by private employers rather than by the government.—George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the Americans is relentlessly to press on and ruthlessly to destroy Fascism and Nazism wherever found.—Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. to Sicilians.

It will become a victory which not only disarms our enemies but discredits what they practiced and believed.—Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress.

News Behind the News

Farley Steps in Ahead of Roosevelt in Backing Walker in New York Election.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—The [illegible] suppressed [illegible] face of James A. Farley [illegible] pictures of the New York [illegible] convention [illegible] and for good reason.

The story behind the picture was that President Roosevelt's emissary, National Chairman Frank Walker, rushed up to New York and arranged the nomination of Lieutenant General Haskell of the National Guard for the special lieutenant governorship election.

The implication was that Roosevelt had made the choice and people here wondered why Farley would so definitely accept it, and lean the way for it in view of the fact that the election is being built up as a test on the fourth term and everyone knows how Mr. Farley has felt about that.

Farley's Bird

Mr. Farley had reason to be double. He slyly slipped around to the American Labor party leaders and arranged their indorsement of Haskell even before Walker arrived in New York. By the time Walker got on the scene, the bird was not only caught by Mr. Farley, but cooked and eaten. Haskell became Farley's candidate more than Roosevelt's.

The race is supposed to be a test of the pulling power of Governor Dewey, current leading Republican candidate, against Mr Roosevelt in his home state, but Dewey did not make the choice of the Republican candidate either.

The Republican nominee, Majority Leader Hanley of the state senate, was naturally wholly acceptable to Dewey and no differences lie between them.

Yet the Republican situation was such that the governor, whose presidential fortunes are directly involved, was not free to go out and pick the strongest possible man politically from all angles to represent him personally in the fight.

The contest will be tough and close, and not truly a Dewey-Roosevelt test, although it is apt to be advertised nationally as such.

Dewey Resists

Every available inner development indicates Dewey is resisting the movement for his own presidential candidacy. His home-town folks in Michigan are known to have attempted to start an organization for him, a sort of unofficial home-town boom, the responsibility for which could not have been attributed to him, but he dissuaded them.

A certain southern Republican woman leader likewise went to New York to try to get just a private word that no opposition would be offered to starting something on her own account, but she was stopped also.

The party leaders here counted on the energetic spread of Mr. Willkies strongly-organized movement to bring Dewey out of the shell he proposed to occupy at Albany until the end of his gubernatorial term, but now are beginning to wonder.

The existence of a growing popular movement behind him has continued to be exhibited in public polls however, to the point where the Democratic leaders here are convinced he will be the nominee anyway.

Ickes Piqued?

Many may have wondered why the government failed to live up to all its advance promises to abandon the pleasure driving ban in the east at the time the midwest was drawn into rationing.

The promises came from the OPA, and almost directly from its general manager, Bowles, who was working determinedly toward that end. OPA understood that petroleum co-ban Ickes would join the promise when he went to Chicago for a conference with midwest congressmen.

However, the contents of the various plans leaked to the press from the OPA office in Chicago before Ickes had a chance to speak.

Ickes came back here mad and refused to allow the ban-lifting as part of the program. He may have had a valid reason, but you cannot convince OPA men of anything except that Ickes was angry at the leak and acted from pique, possibly believing OPA was trying to push him around.

Estrangement has continued between Ickes and OPA since then until recently when Bowles asked him to lunch in an effort to patch up differences.

Travel Rationing Unlikely

By Jack Stinnett for Associated Press.

WASHINGTON—If you are one of those wartime travelers on official business who wants to know when office of defense transportation is going to do something about handling jams on trains, planes and buses, the answer is: Never—well, maybe almost never.

What ODT has had in mind all the time, in controlling the common carriers and private transportation, is the conservation of rubber, gasoline and rolling stock, and preventing necessary wartime overland shipping from breaking down.

The transportation situation is nearing the crisis. Over in ODT, they estimate the peak will come sometime around the end of this year. If we can survive that (the western railroads are really the pulse of transportation's condition), ODT officials say we'll get by.

We'll get by in spite of the fact that only one new locomotive is being built this year for every 50 now wearing out, only one new freight car for every 90 now being shaken to pieces with overloads and minimum repairs between heretofore unheard-of runs; and no new passenger cars or buses of any type.

It may be news that ODT Director Joseph B. Eastman has tucked away in his desk a complete blueprint for rationing transportation, but it's no secret here that ODT won't use it unless non-essential civilian travel begins to make a serious dent in essential movement of war supplies and men in the armed forces.

It's pretty generally agreed that travel rationing would be another major home-front headache and actually would have very little effect on clearing out jams in the train and bus stations.

Transportation officials estimate that non-essential travel has dropped to something like 20 to 25 per cent of the total. Privately they say that those one out of four or five travelers could easily chisel excuses which would get them ration travel privileges. That explains why there will be no rationing unless non-essential travel suddenly spurts. The discomforts of wartime travel probably will keep it from spurting. Hence, why try to alleviate the discomforts?

In Great Britain, the problem was solved by decreeing queues. There it's first come, first served; and a fine or a few days in the hoosegow for the folks why try to wedge their way up in the line.

Apparently ODT is convinced that method wouldn't be so effective here in discouraging non-essential travel as smashed toes and a few well-elbowed solar plexes.

The estimate that non-essential travel has dropped eight to 10 per cent this year seems to bear them out.

Turn to Vegetables

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Growing vegetables where only greenhouse flowers grow before is the trend of the American florists and nurserymen today, states an article in Business Week. While flower growing is more profitable at today's high prices, it says, the growers' motives for conversion are patriotic cooperation with the war food program and good-will-building within the community.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Aug. 30, 1933.

The Marion County Republican executive committee formally launched campaign activities in preparation for the forthcoming municipal election by opening party headquarters in the Marion Loan Co., building and announcing plans for a countywide party picnic on Sept. 6 in Garfield park.

Miss Harriet Walker of Hane avenue made plans to sail from New York Thursday for Puerto Rico to enter the University of Puerto Rico.

Three Boy Scouts who clung for their lives to a tiny ledge 400 feet up on the rocky side of Wallface mountain near Plattsburgh, N. Y., were rescued after two days of privation and peril. The boys, Robert Glenn, Tyler Grey and William LaDue, were nearing exhaustion when rescuers hauled them to safety at the end of a 225-foot rope.

Mrs. S. L. Kuhn was a guest of the Sunbeam Embroidery club when members met at the home of Mrs. Howard Griffin of Wood street.

Thirty-five couples attended a dinner dance given by the Y's Men's club at Hotel Harding. Ray Christman's orchestra furnished music. In charge were Marion Hinklin, Ray Sutton, Ralph Lewis, Ralph Carhart, John Bartram and Jack Weiss.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schott of Olney avenue entertained with a rabbit dinner in the parlors of the Prospect Street M. E. church for members of the Sunday school band and also as a farewell for Rev. and Mrs. Karl Patow, who were to leave soon for Saginaw, Mich.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, Aug 30, 1923.

More than 2,000 Ohio Elks, including a large delegation from Marion, participated in a parade at Sandusky that marked the climax of the state organization's silver jubilee reunion.

The Lay association of the West Ohio conference, Methodist Episcopal church, opened its annual meeting here in connection with the general West Ohio sessions. The laymen, who held their meetings in Calvary church, heard their president, Dr. J. A. Swanson of DeGraff, give the opening address.

Rudolph Isler of Prospect township won first prize at the state fair in the shorthorn calf club exhibit in the junior heifer class. Other prizes were also won by Marion county young people.

Harding High school's football squad reported to Coach Ray Sprout in the high school locker rooms for opening instructions. It was expected the line would average at least 165 pounds to the man and the backfield 160 pounds. The season was to open on Sept. 29 with a game against Lima Central.

LOOKING OVER THE RECORD

This Is Why You Are Short of Gasoline

Petroleum Administration Tells Its Story.

POPULAR discussion of the gasoline situation in this part of the country has been too frequently a grasping for half-truths and obscure facts.

The petroleum administration for war, charged with responsibility for maintaining a flow of petroleum products to the fighting forces abroad and sustaining a sufficient domestic supply for war production needs, has made a comprehensive statement on the situation.

This statement is presented herewith in outline as a guide for discussion and as an aid to understanding of a major wartime problem that can be solved only through complete cooperation.

Reduced basic rations in the middle west and south west are the result of the enormous amounts of oil needed for war.

Up to the present, the wartime drain has been largely at the expense of eastern states, due to the fact that oil shipped out of the country necessarily was taken from supplies available at eastern ports.

Now it is possible, due to radical changes in the transportation of petroleum from its points of origin to the eastern states to draw more supplies from other parts of the country.

There are three direct reasons why the area of acute shortage has broadened:

1. So much oil has been moved out of the middle west and south west that inventories have been declining steadily and substantially.

2. Crude oil production has been falling off because few new fields have been discovered and because existing fields are moving into a normal stage of decline.

3. So much progress has been made in building up transportation—such as the use of tank cars, barges and new pipelines—that it now is possible to move more oil out of the middle west and south west than can be made available on the previous basis of restriction upon consumption.

THERE has been a complete reshuffling of the petroleum distribution system. All normal movements have been changed, involving the rearrangement of the pattern of distribution of more than 3,000,000 barrels of oil a day—five times as much as Russia, world's second largest oil-producing country, produces in total.

Heart of the problem has been the fact the populous eastern states normally consuming about 40 per cent of total national consumption—1,500,000 barrels daily—produced only about 80,000 barrels.

The remainder was transported by ocean tankers from the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean, with minor quanities brought in by pipeline and tank car.

To make petroleum available for export to the armed forces and to meet essential domestic use, tank cars were pressed into service. Rail movement of oil climbed from virtually nothing in June, 1941, to more than 1,000,000 barrels a day this summer.

More than 4,200 miles of new pipeline had to be constructed, with reversal or conversion of 3,700 miles of existing lines and the relocation of 2,600 miles of second-hand line. Outstanding pipeline project is the "big inch," a 1,362-mile conduit with a capacity of 300,000 barrels a day. Under construction is another pipeline, the "little big inch," which will have a capacity of 235,000 barrels a day.

By the time winter closes the Great Lakes, the barge program of the office of defense transportation will be delivering 190,000 barrels a day.

All in all, the facilities which have been developed in substitution for ocean tankers, now needed to transport petroleum to the fighting forces, are delivering more than 1,400,000 barrels a day, or as much as the tankers deliver-ed in normal times. This has been made possible by increasing diversion of oil from the states west of the Appalachians.

It does not mean the east's shortage. It does not mean there is enough oil to meet all essential needs. It does mean that to deliver as much oil as possible, all of the United States east of the Rockies will need to make heavy sacrifices. More than rubber conservation is at stake in gasoline rationing now.

ALSO important in the complete picture of the petroleum situation are national supply and production.

Contrary to common belief, the United States is on the verge of becoming a have-not nation as far as petroleum is concerned. The shortage is not imminent, but actual. For the last four years oil has been used faster than new reserves have been discovered.

Known underground reserves, though equivalent to about 14 years' requirements, nevertheless cannot be taken out of the ground for perhaps as much as half a century.

Conservation of oil would be a national necessity even without the war, which is using up the available supply at a tremendous rate.

Current production of petroleum products in the meantime is hard-pressed to keep abreast of demand.

Demand for high-octane aviation gasoline and other petroleum war products cannot be met without reducing the share of the barrel of crude oil formerly allotted to automobiles. Vast amounts of fuel oil are needed for the expanding United States navy, merchant marine, railroads and war factories—all at the expense of the automobile. There is less gasoline to go around for all users.

SUMMARIZING, petroluem administration for war gives five causes why there is less gasoline in the middle west and south west:

1. War requirements for petroleum are increasing. In North Africa, there were two tons of petroleum shipped in for every ton of other supplies.

2. Crude oil capacity is falling off seriously throughout the important middlewestern producing region.

3. Prudence makes it necessary to conserve petroleum supplies in sight as a measure of war security.

4. Gasoline production has fallen drastically due to the need for other war fuels.

5. Transportation has been developed to the point where it can move out more petroleum than was availble at previous levels of production and consumption. Production was not subject to substantial increase, but consumption was subject to decrease.

6. Even though some tankers may become available, the amount that could be brought by that means under wartime conditions would not be sufficient to affect the situation materially.

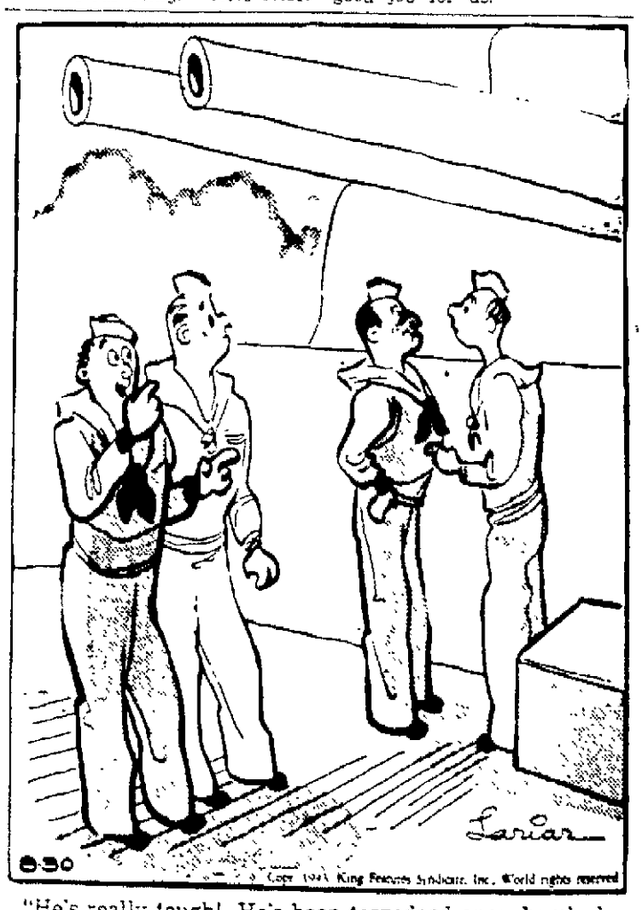
George Does Good Job

By The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — "Let George do it" has a new twist for a Flying Fortress crew in North Africa. Staff Sgt. Thomas J. McGlynn, a tail gunner from Cleveland now stationed at the air base here, said "George was a sunken ship in a Mediterranean harbor.

"When we were sent out on a mission," McGlynn said, "the position of our target was given as 400 yards west of 'George,' or whatever the distance and direction might be. So 'George' did a good job for us."



"He's really tough! He's been torpedoed once, bombed twice and married three times!"

It is indirectly through Senor Penteado York office that I have recently acqu 'Tarmin' of my favorite beverage, in fact that from July 1, 1940, the Unite imported 16,900,000 bags of coffee, or 2 000 pounds.

BRITAIN TO USE U. S. AIRCRAFT

British To Rely on American Planes for 7 Years After the War.

By International News Service

LONDON — With the United Kingdom so far in the van of world-wide air transport operations, Great Britain will have to rely on the Atlantic Charter to gain a foothold on the global, post-war sky lanes, considered opinion was expressed here today by an official spokesman board of British Overseas Airways. The British Empire will have to rely on the United States for planes for "at least seven years" after the war, this official said.

Britain has no blue prints prepared for any vast construction of Britain flying-boats or huge transport planes similar to American "Mars," with its huge passenger load. At the moment everything is being sacrificed to the war effort—to bombers and fighters, flying-boats and trainers.

To Seek U. S. Aid

Immediately after the war," a British Overseas Aairways official pointed out, "Britain will have to rely on the generosity of the American manufacturers and operators for accommodation during the switch over from war to peace needs. In doing so, she will not sink her identity and become merely another member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, the official emphasized.

"There is nothing imperialistic in this move," he said, "but merely owing to the fact that the international airway communications from this island will be negligible in comparison with vast airlines running in the United States, Russia, and China.

That, in effect, means that British Overseas Airways will have to hitch its star alongside Canada, Australia, South Africa and India in any international air convention which may come out of the peace.

To Be International

"Without anticipating what the peace plans of the Allies are," the B.O.A. official said, "there will be no place for the Axis powers for some considerable time in any international convention. We don't want any repetition of the Lufthansa going 'military' overnight, as they did when Germany attacked Poland; for it was the huge transport planes of the Lufthansa that battered Poland, and other countries like Holland, into submission.

"That is why most of the United Nations want aerial transport over the globe to be as international as possible. Russia, China the United States, the British Empire, France and the Netherlands will be represented, but the smaller powers will have to amalgamate."

New Convention Planned

As far as Overseas Airways are concerned, the official pointed out, a new international air convention will have to be summoned directly the war situation permits, to take the place of the World Air Transport Convention of 1919 and the Havana Convention of a later date. The functions of both these convention are now out-of-date, it was declared.

Questions of minimum rates, minimum speeds and maximum national subsidies will be decided by the international body, very much on the same lines as the shipping companies dealt with the seaborne Atlantic traffic in the pre-war years.

"As world peace is to be aimed at," the Overseas Airways official declared, "there can be no question of various areas being barred to other nationals as landing grounds. Also there can be no question of scooping the air. The allotment of air mail will naturally be a problem, especially to the smaller nations who are not operating any large-scale air service."

Hitler's Empire Cracks at Two Different Points

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Hitler's empire of conquered and satellite peoples is breaking up before his anxious eyes from the Balkan cockpit of eastern Europe clear across the continent to the other cockpit on the shores of the North Sea.

Signs of disintegration multiply, latest among the crises to tear the foundation of the Hitlerian structure are the grave situations in the widely separated states of Denmark and Bulgaria.

It's significant that these two countries are among those which have been most favored by the Boche. They haven't, like Poland, endured the atrocities which today drew from the United States and Britain denunciation and a promise of retribution. Hitler has adopted an air of beneficence towards the Danes and Bulgarians hoping to use them among the foundation stones of his new order.

No Surprise In Denmark

Still, it's not surprising that the liberty-loving Danes, hardy descendants of the Vikings who pushed across the uncharted seas to American centuries before any other European explorers, finally have broken out in fierce revolt against the Boche. That creates an especially grave danger for Hitler, since Denmark provides one of the several potential invasion coasts for the Allies, and the latter might take quick advantage of the situation if things looked particularly good.

Also a grave political-military problem for the master gangster is the situation in the Balkans—another potential invasion theater for the Allies. Bulgaria, his buffer state against the unpredictable Turks and one of his chief bulwarks against an assault by the United Nations up the peninsula, is tottering in loyalty King Boris has met sudden and mysterious death, and his people have been parading the streets of their somber capital, demanding peace. Pro-German Premier Philov apparently trying to hold the fort for Hitler, but his chances of success don't seem good as things now stand.

It would be interesting to know which situation is giving the miserable Hitler the greater worry. Likely it's the Danish upheaval. A successful Allied invasion of western Europe right now, when the Russians are ripping up the Nazi lines in eastern Europe would place Germany in the desperate position of having to wage major war on opposite fronts.

Sweden Enters Picture

Then there's another aspect to the imbroglio in little Denmark. As I pointed out last week, relations between neighboring Sweden and the reich have become so strained that the Swedes are now walking close to war with Nazidom. If they came into the conflict under those circumstances they would automatically become one of the Allies. That would make Hitler's western front a hot spot.

King Boris was a dictator by nature. As virtually absolute monarch he carried his people into the war on the side of the axis. He probably was impelled to do this because of Germany's powerful influence in the Balkan peninsula, because he thought the reich was likely to win and because favors on Bulgaria, and because he was son-in-law of the king of Italy.

However, the Bulgarian people followed Boris into the war on the side of the axis reluctantly. They are largely anti-German and are very pro-Russian, because of the Slavic fraternity. He who tries to make them fight further for Hitler is inviting trouble.

Perhaps the king lost his life because he finally recognized the futility of trying to force his subjects to give further support to the Nazis. We don't know how he died, but there are all sorts of reports going the rounds and it may be time will disclose that he was assassinated on Nazi orders because he told Hitler in their recent conference that the game was now up.

Not a very happy week-end, was it, fuehrer?

THE custom of open church was observed when Miss Mary Katherine Schill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Schill of 313 Chestnut street, became the bride of Loren W. Tibbals, Saturday afternoon in Emanuel Lutheran church. The double ring ceremony, read at 4:30 o'clock by Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor, was preceded by a half-hour program of organ music. Miss Wanda McMahan, organist, played, and Miss Martha Gail Stephenson sang.

At either side of the steps leading up to the altar was a basket of rose and white gladioli and the flowers on the altar were all white gladioli.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Jacquelyn Drumm, who was costumed in a dress of rose silk jersey. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length dress of white satin. The basque waist had a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves, and her veil of bridal illusion was fingertip in length. Her shower bouquet held Johanna Hill roses. Miss Drumm's dress was fashioned on lines identical with that worn by the bride and she carried a bouquet of blue gladioli, with matching flowers in her hair.

Serving as best man was the bridegroom's brother, Bruce Tibbals. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Tibbals of McKinley place. Seating the guests were William Durtsche of Galion and Charles Ellery of Marion.

The bride's mother was costumed in a two-piece dress of grey crepe with which she wore navy accessories and a corsage of rose and white gladioli. Mrs. Tibbals wore a powder blue tailored costume with white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

Miss McMahan played "Intermezzo," from "Cavalleria Rusticana," Mascagni; "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," Saint-Saens; "My Best Beloved," Giordani; "My Hero," from Chocolate Soldier," "Indian Love Call," Friml; "To the Evening Star," Wagner; "Liebestraum," Liszt and during the ceremony "Call Me Thine Own." Miss Stephenson sang "Tell Me Why," and "Because." For the processional and recessional Miss McMahan played the traditional wedding marches.

Following the ceremony the bride and bridegroom received their friends informally in the church vestibule and later there was a reception in the church parlors where garden flowers in rose and blue the bride's wedding colors, provided a colorful setting. The bride's table, lighted with tall tapers in crystal candelabra, held a three-tiered wedding cake. Presiding were Miss Mary Lowe and Miss Helen Fetter.

When the couple left on a wedding trip the new Mrs. Tibbals was wearing a gray flannel tailored suit with which she wore a white jersey blouse and purple hat and accessories. Pinned to her shoulder was a gardenia corsage. Upon their return they will live at 489 North Prospect street.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary Parochial High school and Mr. Tibbals from Harding High school. Both attended Ohio State university. Mrs. Tibbals is a secretary in the purchasing department of the U. S. Rubber Co.

Goebbels Bans Exit from Bombed Berlin

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 30 — A mass migration of Berlin residents to the fields and forests surrounding the city to escape future allied air raids has been barred by Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels, according to dispatches from Spain.

Goebbels' instructions are that nobody in Berlin may leave his home at night without an approved reason," the Berlin correspondent of the Madrid newspaper ABC said, explaining that the rule was adopted to force all residents to help clean up the damage following attacks.

HIGH GRADE WHEAT GOING TO LIVESTOCK

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—Millions of bushels of milling wheat, ordinarily used almost exclusively for human consumption, have been fed to livestock and poultry this year, grain men say.

The amount of corn and oats available has not been sufficient to feed the record numbers of livestock and poultry in the country, grain men explained, and the result has been a heavy utilization of what was once considered the country's bread grain.

Sales of wheat for use as feed by the Commodity Credit Corp. during the past month totaled around 50,000,000 bushels. This is wheat the agency took over when farmers did not redeem their government loans on the grain, or which was purchased in the open market.

Grain men asserted this was a very heavy sales rate—if continued for a year it would total 600,000,000 bushels. But it was generally expected that the CCC's selling of feed wheat would fall off later in the year, when the 1943 corn crop should be moving to market in volume.

While the feed situation generally is recognized as serious at the moment, particularly in the east, there were many grain men who felt it might become critical later in the year.

Latest reports on the corn crop are not as encouraging as they were only two weeks ago. The major corn belt still appears to be headed for an excellent crop, according to trade advices, but there has been considedrable deterioration in other sections.

WAC FOUND SLAIN IN INDIANAPOLIS

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 30—Army officers said today a 32-year-old WAC corporal found slain in a downtown hotel, her throat, arms and wrists cut and her body only half clothed, had been murdered, but they gave no hint of being close to a solution of the mystery.

The body of Corp. Maoma L. Ridings, attractive divorcee and member of a prominent Warm Springs, Ga., family, was found in a room at the Claypool Hotel Saturday night, three hours after she had rented the room. She had been stationed at Camp Atterbury, 25 miles south.

City Detective Noel Jones said two bellboys reported seeing a "woman in black" in Corp. Ridings' room soon after she had registered.

The detective also related the hotel switchboard operator received a call saying a woman was heard screaming in a seventh floor room and other persons told of hearing of a soldier and a woman arguing in another room. But when a hotel employe investigated, Jones continued, the soldier's room was vacant and he had checked out.

Jones said the WAC's body was nude below the waist. The body was taken to Fort Benjamin Harrison and an autopsy was performed, but the finding was not disclosed.

Jones said a broken whisky bottle was the only thing found in the room that might have inflicted the wounds.

Corp. Ridings was the daughter of Mrs. Maie Little, of Warm Springs, who said her daughter was divorced from Lawrence Ridings, now overseas in the army.

expected to abdicate. This report said diplomatic circles in the Swedish capital were discussing formation of a free Danish government in London.)

The military dictatorship was imposed as the climax of a rapid series of sabotage acts in the past two weeks throughout the German vassal state, overrun by Hitler's forces in 1940.

"Recent disturbances have shown that the Danish authorities are no longer in position to maintain law and order," said the martial law decree.

Gen. Hermann Von Hannecken, the German commander in Denmark, issued the decree, threatening "ruthless use of arms" to enforce it.

It banned all strikes, civil communications, street traffic after dark and assemblies of more than five persons except for church services. The death penalty was provided for those who incite workers to strike.

The Germans move to take over full control of the kingdom came after the government of Premier Eric Scavenius refused to bow to a drastic eight-point ultimatum presented Saturday by German Minister Werner Best.

Travelers reaching Sweden said the Danish cabinet resigned when the demands were presented.

Count Ciano and Family Reported To Be in Munich

CHURCHILL TO VISIT WHITE HOUSE AGAIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill will hold their fourth Washington conference since Pearl Harbor this week, presumably to recheck and follow up their Quebec agreements on military and political questions.

Prospects for a tri-partite meeting among representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Russia, mentioned as a possibility in the joint Quebec communique, may receive their attention, as well as political questions involved in administering temporary governments of liberated nations.

Some officials, however, are inclined to believe the prime minister's latest visit here will be confined largely to gathering up any loose ends or discussing secondary questions that may have remained unsettled at conferences in the Canadian city in the last two weeks.

They based this on the phraseology of the joint communique which said the President and prime minister "were able to receive and approve the unanimous recommendations of the combined chiefs of staff" and also had reached agreement on political issues "underlying or arising out of the military operations."

Mr. Churchill, who remained in Canada after the Quebec strategy conferences ended last Tuesday, will deliver a radio address tomorrow at 1 p. m., E.W.T. It has not been announced when he would reach Washington.

Defenbacher Predicts Surplus of 65 Millions

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Aug. 30 — The state government, which began 1943 with a surplus of approximately $45,000,000, may end the year with a surplus of $65,000,000, Finance Director H. D. Defenbacher said today.

An unexpected rise in sales tax revenue is partly responsible for the increase, he said. Income from the tax for the first seven months of this year exceeded estimates by $9,000,000.

Only liquor revenues dropped below the estimates of the administration's financial experts. The income from this source was $953,472 under estimates.

Old Type "B" and "C" Books Expire

Tuesday is the deadline for exchange of the old type "B" and "C" gasoline coupons. On Sept. 1 these old type coupons will be invalid for the purchase of gasoline.

You can go in person to your local ration board to make the exchange or you may mail in your old book. In case you are away from the city and unable to go to your own local board, you will be permitted to make this exchange at the nearest ration board.

Space is provided upon the face of the new type "B" and "C" coupons to write the license number and state in which your car is registered. This must be done before the coupons can be accepted in exchange for gasoline. This exchange of coupons and indorsement upon the coupons is for the purpose of eliminating illegally-held and counterfeit coupons now circulating in the black market.

MUST BUY IN PERSON

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30 — Liquor Director Don A. Fisher says it is extremely unlikely that husbands will be permitted to buy liquor on their wives' ration cards—or vice versa. The regulation requiring holders of cards to appear in person when they make purchases has operated successfully and its abolition might lead to "stooge" buying for bootleggers, the director asserted.

Hints of Three Power Parley Heard in London

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 30 — Speculation on the possibility of an early Anglo-Russian-American conference was given a new boost today when it was learned Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden will meet both Ivan Maisky, former Russian ambassador to Great Britain, and U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant tomorrow.

The meeting between representatives of the three big powers might have been held even earlier, diplomatic sources indicated, except that Eden is reporting today to his war cabinet colleagues on results of the Quebec conferences between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

Many diplomatic observers are convinced that Eden, Maisky and Winant will consider the possibilities of joint, personal, three-power conversations, at least on the "foreign minister level."

REASONABLE PRICES FOR FARMERS ASKED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30 — If wartime food production is to be maintained, farmers must be assured reasonable prices and the manpower and machinery to get in the crops, Ohio agriculture leaders agreed today.

Elmer F. Kruse, chairman of the Ohio war board of the U. S. department of agriculture, declared the farmer must be assured an income to enable his family to live.

"The farmer is guaranteed only a market for his product if public demand calls for it," he said, adding that industry is guaranteed cost-plus for war work and labor is assured a minimum hourly wage.

Other highlights of the farm leader survey:

H. C. Ramsower, director of Ohio State university agricultural extension service: It is the government's responsibility "to assure farmers of a proper balance in price among the various commodities which they produce."

Dean John F. Cunningham of Ohio State university college of agriculture: "Make prices favorable and on a reasonable basis and the food supply will be produced and delivered."

Kruse: "Keep men classified as essential to agriculture on the farm and retain on the farm boys who are becoming 18 years of age that are essential."

John T. Brown, Ohio director of agriculture: "Price ceilings on all perishable goods should be removed to avoid a continuation of heavy losses which have resulted from spoilage on a sluggish market;" more steel should be allotted for farm machinery.

Joseph Fichter, master of the state Grange: "In computing farm income it should be realized that the farmer's wife and children often work long hours without pay."

Murray Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau: "The distribution of farm products must be efficiently administered to eliminate waste and spoilage of perishable goods."

TO LIFT DRIVING BAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 — A tentative order to lift the ban on eastern pleasure driving Wednesday has been sent to field offices of the office of price administration (OPA). The order has no official status yet, although OPA has given every indication that it was working to free eastern motorists of the no-pleasure driving restriction either by Sept. 1 or next week-end.

The battalion embraces units from Chillicothe, Athens, Lancaster and Gallipolis.

FARM LABOR DEMAND NOW AT LOW MARK

Friday Night Office Sessions Dropped Temporarily.

As Marion county farmers are experiencing a more or less slack season at the present, the policy of handling emergency farm labor requests on Friday nights at the county agricultural extension office will be abandoned for about four weeks, Orla E. Barks, special county farm labor assistant, announced today.

Practically no farmers in the area are currently in need of emergency help as wheat and oats harvesting has been completed, Mr. Barks said. Most farmers are doing some "watchful waiting" for the corn and soy bean crops, which are expected to be ready for harvesting the latter part of next month.

Mr. Barks said a few part time workers may be needed for silo-filling next week but not nearly enough to warrant keeping the extension office open Friday nights solely for the purpose of answering farm labor requests.

Last Friday night, Mr. Barks was absent from the extension office for the first time since last spring, when he was appointed to his special post by the county farm labor committee. Calls for farm laborers during the past month have been few and far between, Mr. Barks stated.

However, in about a month, when bean harvesting commences, farm labor officials look for nearly as many appeals as during early summer to be handled by Mr. Barks or through the county extension office, which is working in cooperation with the farm labor committee.

OHIO EXCEEDS QUOTA

Marion Nurse In Training for Air Evacuation Corps

Lt. Betty Roberts of the Army Nurse Corps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Roberts of 638 Girard avenue, is taking a course in air evacuation training at Bowman field, Ky.

When she completes the training, which includes Commando tactics, Lt. Roberts will be eligible to be a crew member on a C-47 carrier troop plane, used to evacuate the wounded from the battle area to the base hospital. The crew will consist of a pilot, a co-pilot, a sergeant, and a nurse.

Lt. Roberts' duty will be to oversee loading and unloading of wounded passengers, see to their comfort, and treat them enroute.

Following her graduation from Mt. Sinai hospital in Cleveland in May, 1941, Lt. Roberts remained on the staff there for a while. Sept., 1942 she enlisted in the Army Nurse Corps and was stationed at an Army hospital camp in Mobile, Ala., until about eight weeks ago when she was sent to Bowman field. She is a graduate of Harding High school in the class of 1938.

Her father, Gerald M. Roberts, is employed by the Universal Cooler company and her mother works at the Scioto Ordnance plant.

Miss Roberts' photograph appeared recently in the Louisville Courier Journal with several other nurses taking training at Bowman field. An account of the various courses given there was also published.

Steam Shovel, Cardington and Claridon Teams Still in Tourney at Green Camp

The approximately 400 fans who attended the second three-game session of the Green Camp baseball tournament at the Green Camp High school field yesterday afternoon saw about everything in the books from a no-hit game to a 14-run inning.

Roseberry, Cardington pitcher, came within one mere baserunner of chucking a perfect game as he blanked Green Camp, 4 to 0, allowing no hits in the second tourney game yesterday. In the third and final tilt, Claridon's veteran team pasted Pitcher Pierce of Agosta for 14 runs on top of 10 hits in the fourth stanza to out-tally the Agostans, 16 to 11.

Marion Steam Shovel's Diggers annexed their second tournament win by lacing Richwood, 6 to 0 in yesterday's opener.

Richwood, Green Camp and Agosta, as a result of their losses yesterday are eliminated from tourney play, each having been beaten last Sunday as well, Steam Shovel, Claridon and Cardington are each undefeated, having won opening tourney games last Sunday. Next Sunday afternoon the Shovel outfit will meet Claridon in the initial contest with Cardington playing the winner the succeeding Sunday. The two losers of next Sunday's games will clash in an elimination tilt.

Pouring in smoke balls that the batters of the next Green Camp squad apparently could not see well enough to hit them, Roseberry set the Campers down with no hits and allowed only one man to reach first for the entire seven innings. That individual was Oehler, second man up for Green Camp in the first inning. He was safe at first on an error by Pace, Cardington third sacker. He did not get past first, however.

22 Men At Bat

Only 22 men, one above the minimum number for a seven-frame faced Roseberry. He struck out seven of them and displayed faultless control in not giving out a single walk.

Big Cardington blow came in the sixth inning when D. Crum, third baseman, smacked one of Pitcher Oehler's offerings for a long homer. No one was on board at the time.

Agosta's inexperienced team holding an 8 to 2 lead going into the first of the fourth, saw that margin be blotted out and then some by a bunch of Claridon horsehiders, who suddenly went berserk. Claridon hitters smashed out nine singles and a double in the first of the fourth, which added to five walks by Pitcher Pierce, accounted for 14 runs, one of the biggest innings ever recorded in local organized hardball.

A total of 16 Claridon stickers faced Pierce in the momentuos fourth. He had to pitch to nine of these before he could get one out. Seven of the first eight Claridon batters singled while the other was granted a walk. After the ninth man was put out, five more Claridon batters swung before the second out could be made. It was in this succession of swatters that the first and only Claridon extra-base blow of the inning came. Trout doubled.

Agosta Takes Lead

Agosta had gone out in front, 5 to 0, after completion of their half of the first frame. The Agostans blasted six hits in this inning. Claridon scored two in the first and Agosta added three more in the third on two hits to go into an 8-2 lead, indeed short-lived.

Arnold of the Steam Shovel handcuffed the Richwood team on two hits as the Diggers ousted the Union countians, mainly through errors.

Two runs were tallied by the Shovel outfit in the second inning on only one hit but also on two Richwood muffs.

The first and only double play in the six games of the tournament was executed by the losing Richwood team in the sixth stanza. With Tierney on first, Harbolt of the Shovel grounded to Cheney, Richwood right fielder, who threw out Tierney at second. Second baseman Somerlot then whipped the ball to first sacker McGlobben to catch Harbolt.

Richwood rightfielders had a good day yesterday, even if the other eight Richwood fielders did not. Early in the game Arnold Shovel hurler smashed what looked like a clean hit to deep right. Carr, who then was stationed at right garden post, grabbed the ball far from first base and with a long, on-the-dot heave, threw out Arnold at first.

Ohio Team Still In Legion Tournament

By The Associated Press

MILES CITY, Mont., Aug. 30—Three teams remained in the running today for the American Legion junior world series championship.

Springfield, O., will play Minneapolis at 2 p. m. (MWT) in the seventh game of the series, and the winner will clash at 8 p. m. with New Orleans.

The tourney could be concluded tonight if Springfield should win both games. Otherwise it will go to the ninth game tomorrow.

The underdog Springfield club downed New Orleans 4-3 last night. Earlier New Orleans had scored a 7-4 win over Minneapolis.

Springfield last night was a team that would not be beaten. After New Orleans had scored three runs on four hits in the fourth inning, the Springfield boys plugged away until they evened the score in the eleventh.

In the last half of the ninth, with two out, pinch hitter Bob Davis singled, went to second on a fielder's choice, and then came home on Dick Brinkman's single for the winning run.

Cards Need Their Lead as Reds Take Three Out of Four

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Aug. 30—Billy Southworth and his St. Louis Cardinals certainly are thankful for that 10½ game lead in the National league race.

The Cards finished a four-game series here yesterday and when the shooting was over they managed to salvage one victory—and they had to go 11 innings to do that.

The Reds took the first game of Sunday's double bill, 5-3, but dropped the nightcap, 3-2, after tying the score at 2-all in the last half of the ninth.

The largest crowd in the history of Crosley Field saw the games. Today paid admissions of 35,475 were augmented by 2,542 servicemen and blood donors for a total of 38,017.

Pitching and sensational fielding featured both games. The Reds spotted Elmer Riddle a five-run lead in the opener but Riddle had to be rescued in the seventh when the Cards got to him for three runs. Clyde Shoun handcuffed the world champs for the rest of the distance.

In the nightcap, the Cardinals went into the last half of the ninth with a two-run lead. With one out, Eddie Miller doubled and scored on Ray Mueller's single. Gee Walker, running for Mueller, took second on an error and came racing home to tie the score when Max Marshall smashed a single through second base.

Max Lanier, who relieved Murray Dickson in the tenth, pitched and batted the Cards to victory. Lanier fanned four of the six Cincinnati batsmen who faced him and in the eleventh he singled, was sacrificed to second and scored the winning run on Walker Cooper's single.

The Reds are idle today awaiting Tuesday's opening of a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—The football-hungry south may find a couple of its big games this fall between Sewanee and Howard, both of which dropped the game early in 1942 but have reinstated it. And Harvard, which also abandoned football, only had a turnout of 105 for informal practices. . . . Clark Picks All-Star Team To Play Universal Cooler

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Sixteen of Marion's best softball players have been selected by John Clark to make up the All-Star "dream team," which he will pilot in a benefit game against Universal Cooler, newly-crowned city softball champion, at Lincoln park Thursday night.

Mr. Clark, dean of Marion softballers, also chose Winfred Gorenflo, manager of Coca-Cola's Commercial league champs, and Wade Conkle, skipper of the Huber Threshers, second-place squad in the Industrial loop, to assist him as coaches of the All-Star aggregation.

Marion Mewhorter, secretary of the softball commission, said today all receipts from the game definitely will go for purchasing lights for Lincoln park next season. He thinks that if enough Marionites support the game, sufficient funds can be raised to equip most of the poles at the north-side field.

Millisor and Weiss To Pitch

Heading the lineup of softball notables are two of the city's leading pitchers, Harold "Fat" Millisor, who hurled in every Huber game this summer, and Lawrence "Coxie" Weiss, who notched six victories and three defeats for Coca-Cola.

For receivers these exceedingly capable moundsmen will have equally capable Ted Anderson of Huber and Don "Red" Moran of St. Mary, who performed so brilliantly with Epworth in the Little World Series.

The starting battery, of course, has not yet been announced by Manager Clark, who also was at the helm of the Epworth Methodists this year, but don't be surprised if it is Millisor and Anderson. This combination clicked efficiently for Huber this year and is tried-and-true in getting positive results.

For infielders, including short fielders, Clark chose the following softballers: Roy Everly of Epworth, Bob Cocherl of Coca-Cola, Fritz Walters of Coca-Cola, Darrell Roseberry of Epworth, Les Wilcox of Coca-Cola, Bill Armbruster of Huber, Bill Weber of Coca-Cola, and Watt Merchant of Coca-Cola.

Outfielders Chosen

The following quartet of outfielders was decided upon: Myron Gibson of Huber, Kenneth Somerlot of General Excavator, Bill Freshour of Coca-Cola, and Dick Mulvaine of Presbyterian.

Six members of the All-Star team hail from the soft-drinking but hard-hitting ranks of Coca-Cola. Apparently, genial John has a high opinion of the competency of the beveragers. His Epworth team defeated Coke twice during the Little World Series.

Bob Cocherl, fast Coca-Cola infielder, also played a few games with the Methodists in the Sunday School league this year. To make things square, Darrel Roseberry, although he is officially an Epworth player, also performed with Coca-Cola this season.

This lineup of stellar softballers contains several sluggers, who are likely to break up any game with prodigious clouts, and also some fast-traveling base-runners, who consistently put themselves in scoring position this year by pilfering countless bases.

Mr. Clark remarks of the team, "We've got quite a bit of speed there—not many slow fellows."

It will be hard for Cooler to match the hitting power of the All-Stars. Clark knows that and thus says he is going to get the ten toughest batsmen out of the sixteen to start against Cooler.

The silver-haired skipper especially stresses the hitting department for Thursday night's game, as he says, "With that lineup, I think you could pick out ten good hitters."

INDIANS SEND SOX BACK TO 5TH PLACE BY TAKING 2 GAMES

Harder and Reynolds Hold Chicago to Two Runs in 18 Innings.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 30—Chicago's White Sox are back in fifth place today, largely because of the pitching performances of a couple of Cleveland regulars who allowed only two runs in 18 innings of baseball yesterday.

The Indians won both ends of a double header, 2-1 and 6-1, their sixth twin killing in the last eight double headers. The triumphs gave the Indians a 14 to 5 edge over Chicago for the season.

The Indians move to Camp Grant, Ill., for an army camp exhibition today, and will resume hostilities with the White Sox in Cleveland's municipal stadium Thursday night. The three-game series before the Tribe followers will be the final 1943 meeting of the two teams.

Mel Harder and Allie Reynolds were pitching victors in the Sunday affray here. Harder hurled five-hit ball in the opener, and was so effective the three Redskin outfielders did not have a putout, while Lou Boudreau accepted 13 chances at shortstop and Ray Mack had eight at second base.

In the afterpiece, Allie Reynolds counteracted an attack of wildness by fanning five batters, raising his total to 105 for the season, and yielding only seven hits. He issued nine bases on balls, one of them forcing Chicago's only run over the plate in the first inning.

Tribal bats beat out a 14-hit tattoo in the nightcap, with Russ Peters battering out four successive singles and Jeff Heath smashing his 18th home run off Johnny Humphries. Mickey Rocco banged out three singles in three official trips, after getting a pair in the opener.

GOOD PITCHING WINS FOR NAPOLEON TEAM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30—Extremely stingy pitching!

That's the story of Napoleon Rausch Roofers three victories to clinch their first state men's softball title.

Opponents of the new champions made only four hits in the 21 innings they played in the annual classic.

The best performance was Steve Kaifas' no-hitter in blanking Canton Mats, Inc., 2-0, in the semi-finals, but Elmer Rohrs, who allowed Lima Locomotive only three hits in winning the opener 3-2 Saturday, nearly duplicated the feat in permitting Lorain Sarek meats only one blow in the championship contest last night.

Pacing his team to a 6-0 win in the finals, 17-year-old Rohrs struck out 15 and let only three Lorain players reach base in the first inning.

Lorain reached the finals by upsetting the defending champion Ferguson State Auditors of Columbus, 3-2, in a 10-inning semi-final. The auditors' downfall came when Catcher John Brown's throw struck a runner at first base while Joe Sarek, the Lorain team's sponsor-outfielder scooted home from third with the winning run.

The women's division also crowned a new champion—the Dayton Sucher Packers.

The Packers trimmed the Columbus Kahn Jewelers, 7-4, in the championship game after edging out a 4-2 win over Columbus J & K Snoes in an eight-inning semi-final clash. Columbus Kahn beat Warren Leeds Jewelers 1-0 in the other semi-final contest.

Napoleon and Dayton will represent Ohio in their respective divisions in the regional tournament opening next week in Lakewood.

Ohio State Football Still a Question Mark

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30—The 1943 edition of Ohio State university football appeared today, enveloped in a question mark.

The squad, the youngest and lightest in many years, consists of five veteran players and a flock of 17-year-old freshmen. Only one of the veterans, Tackle Bill Willis, was a regular on the 1942 team which won the mythical national championship and Big Ten title.

Nevertheless, Coach Paul E. Brown said "we'll carry on as best we can under the circumstances."

The other veterans are Tackles Jack Dugger and Thornton Dixon, end Cy Souders and center Gordon Appleby.

The football candidates receive physical examinations and uniforms today preparatory to starting practice Wednesday.

Ohio State opens the season against Iowa Seahawks here Sept. 25.

Dog Fight for N. L. Flag Looms as Reds Stiff

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It seems far-fetched, but there's a possibility the Cincinnati may overhaul the St. Louis Cardinals in one of those hot September finishes usually associated with the National league.

The standings show the Cards out in front by 10½ games with 34 to play. The standings fail to show, however, that in the two weeks the second place Reds won 14 of 18.

If the Reds maintain their remarkable .778 pace of the last week-end, and sweep a four-game series with the Cards at St. Louis, the senior loop will witness another dogfight right to the wire.

The largest crowd in the history of Crosley field—38,017, including 35,475 paid — turned out in Cincinnati yesterday and watched the Reds win the opener, 5-3, but lose the nightcap, 3-2 in 11 innings after coming from behind to tie the score in the ninth on Max Marshall's single.

York Hits 2 Homers

Rudy York, Detroit slugger, clouted two homers as the Tigers beat the St. Louis Browns twice, 12-5 and 4-2, but fell one shy of tying his record of 18 round-trippers in one month. The Tigers are idle today and tomorrow. The four-baggers were York's 29th and 30th of the year.

Charley Keller and Roy Weatherly each walloped two homers, and Spud Chandler won his 17th of the season as the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from the Boston Red Sox.

Keller's second homer and his 24th of the season came with one on in the ninth inning of the first game and tided the score at 4-4. In the tenth Weatherly walloped his first homer off Tex Hughson to win the game, 6-4. The Yanks took the nightcap easily, 5-1.

Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh failed to become the first 20-game winner in the majors when the Chicago Cubs knocked him out of the box with a seven-run uprising in the ninth to win the first game of a twin bill, 11-2. The Pirates gained a split by taking the nightcap, 3-1.

Senators Win Two

Washington came from behind in both games to beat the Philadelphia Athletics twice, 5-4 in 11 innings and 2-1.

Mel Harder and Allie Reynolds pitched Cleveland to a double win over the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 an 5-1. Harder yielded five hits and Reynolds was touched for seven blows, but ha an easier time aided by Jeff Heath's 18th homer and Russ Peters' four hits.

Brooklyn swept a doubleheader from the Phillies, 3-1 and 8-0.

Jim Tobin and Al Javery each won his 12th game of the season in pitching the Boston Braves to a double triumph over the New York Giants, 4-1 and 1-0.

Association Pennant Race Tightening Up

By The Associated Press

The American Association pennant race took on its usual tight proportions today with only 1½ games separating the three leaders.

Indianapolis climbed into second place, a game shy of catching Milwaukee and Columbus relinquished its hold on the runner-up spot by sliding into third place despite a double win yesterday.

Carl Fairly's single in Sunday's seventh inning of the opener to drive home a brace of runs which pushed the Tribe to a 6-4 decision. Woodie Rich blanked Milwaukee 1-0 in the nightcap.

John Antonelli banged in six runs with two homers and a single to help Columbus to a 11-1 victory over the Saints, and the flock took the afterpiece 2-1.

Fourth-place Toledo blasted Minneapolis 8-0 and 5-2.

At Kansas City, the Blues captured a 4-3 win from Louisville in the opener, but the Colonels took the second 4-1.

Conservation Division Reports on Financing

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30—The division of conservation and natural resources will have between $600,000 and $700,000 on hand to start 1944 operations as the result of curtailed expenditures, Assistant Commissioner H. (Buck) Rider reported today.

He announced a balance of $1,396 as of Aug. 1 after all obligations had been met, and added:

"We expect to have a balance of between $600,000 and $700,000 by Jan. 1. However this cannot be considered a profit in any sense of the term, for it is applied immediately to the cost of our 1944 operations."

Rider said expenditures for the first seven months of this year had been cut to $472,000, a drop of $130,754 under the similar 1942 period, to allow for a $76,000 decrease in revenue.

Six First Round County Golf Matches Played at Mar-O-Del

Six first round matches in the fifth annual Marion county golf tournament were played over the week-end at the Mar-O-Del public course and the result of at least one of them rightly can be considered an upset.

The one outcome which did not run true to the form sheet was the 1-up victory of Fred Loy over Cliff Willis, county tournament qualifying medalist. This battle extended over the entire 18 holes, being one of those matches where the winner can not be predicted with certainty until the very last putt has been dropped.

Both Loy and Willis hail from Mar-O-Del. Willis' qualifier, which bested the efforts of the other 31 tourney entrants, was a one-over-par 75. Loy qualified for the first flight with an 84.

Other Completions

Three other first flight matches and two second bracket contests were completed over the week-end. Four top flight and seven second division first round matches are yet to be played. Deadline for initial round matches is Wednesday. The 16 surviving linksmen will be paired at that time for second round matches, deadline for which is Sept. 6.

In another first flight tilt Don Preuninger of Mar-O-Del ousted Leo Groll, left handed Country club swinger, 3 and 2. In the county tournament of two years ago these two golfers met in a second flight match with the final count being the same 3 and 2 but with Groll being the victor. Preuninger qualified with 83 and Groll with 88.

Petrich, Graham Win

Herb Petrich of Country club defeated Mike Troiano of Mar-O-Del 3 and 2, and Bob Graham of Mar-O-Del trimmed Jim Mayden, Country club linksman, 2 and 1 in the other two first flight county matches. Petrich ranked second to Willis in qualifying with 77 while Troiano racked up an 86 qualifier. Graham's mark was a six-over-par 80 while Mayden, only Marion golfer to pos' a hole-in-one this season, qualified with 87.

Harold Henry, chairman of the county golf committee, hung up a 5 and 4 triumph over Ira Bishman in a first round match in the second flight. Bill Isaly beat Bill Luse 3 and 2 in the other bottom bracket contest. Henry's qualifying score was 91, Bishman's 95, Issly's 95 and Luse's 105.

Drafting Workers Favored By Majority in Manpower Poll

BY GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 30 — Probably on no other major issue of the war has congress or the government lagged so far behind public opinion as on the issue of a manpower draft for war industries.

As early as March, 1942—only three months after Pearl Harbor—Institute surveys found a substantial majority of American voters in favor of a national manpower registration and for a program for drafting civilians into war work. When congress reconvenes next month it will again find the issue of manpower waiting on its door step, more persistent than ever, in the shape of the Austin-Wadsworth National Service bill.

In every test of public opinion on the issue in the last year and a half the Institute has found a majority in favor of a manpower draft. There are, it is true, many persons who believe that no serious manpower shortage evists or that even if it does exist, the situation does not call for so drastic a measure as a draft.

But even taking this group into account, the latest Institute survey completed this week shows that people from coast to coast who have given enough thought to this issue to have an opinion favor a manpower draft by a majority.

Perhaps the most significant fact revealed in the latest survey, and one of special interest to Paul V. McNutt, manpower commissioner, is that some 15,000,000 men and women in the United States believe that they might be called for national service if a draft comes. Commissioner McNutt would also find important the fact that these people do not resist the idea of a manpower draft; in fact, they favor it by a larger majority than the rest of the country.

These 15,000,000, who apparently consider their present work less essential than war work and who favor the idea of a nation-wide draft by a huge majority, form a labor pool far in excess of the maximum increase demanded to date by the war manpower commission. Early this week Mr. McNutt declared that 2,600,000 workers must be shifted to war jobs by next July.

Today's Survey

The reaction of the public toward a manpower draft was sounded on the following issue in the Institute's survey:

"If there is a shortage of men and women workers for war industries this fall; should the government draft persons to fill these jobs?"

The vote is:

Yes	79%
No	14
Undecided	7

In a poll in March, 1942, on a similar issue the vote was 61 per cent in favor of giving the government the power to tell all able-bodied persons what to do for the war effort and to compel them to do it.

In a second part of today's survey, each person interviewed was asked whether he thought he might be drafted into a war job if a manpower conscription act were passed.

A total of 15,000,000, indicated above, said they thought they might be drafted for such service.

When these people were also asked whether they approve or disapprove of the idea of a draft law, the vote was 91 per cent approval, or considerably higher than the national vote of 79 per cent.

More than 80,000 men and women have been trained for radio work under the sponsorship of the War Manpower Commission.

A giant lawnmower that can trim 40 acres an hour has been developed by the Army corps of engineers for use in air fields.

In normal times, approximately 95 per cent of the oil consumed in the 17 eastern states is brought in by tanker.

An offering of $28.61 was received at presentation of the play sponsored by the Christian Young People's union of Marion in Trinity Baptist church Sunday night. Proceeds will be donated to a religious training program for boys of the community not members of any Sunday school or church and who do not attend religious services. The project, backed by the Marion County Council of Churches, will be carried through cooperation of the Y.M.C.A.

The opening worship service was in charge of Miss Marguerite Williamson, C.Y.P.U. president, numbers were presented by the choir and a special number was sung by Bob Barnhart accompanied by Miss Wanda McMahon at the organ.

The play, "Pathways That Lead to God," was written by Geneva Albert and directed by Miss Margaret Huffman. It consisted of a series of scenes to convince a doubting onlooker of the influence of religion in the lives of members of the community. Scenes featured devotions of a family group, of an office worker, a school room, conversation of a young athlete and coach the story of the painting, "Head of Christ" by Sallman with the lighted picture displayed and a lighted cross with a penitent kneeling in prayer. The choir, directed by Merle Lashey and accompanied by Mrs. Harry Woodall at the piano, sang as each scene was changed. Miss Charlotte Dutt and Miss Albert played the key characters of the drama.

Tense Moments in Diplomacy

AN opportunity to write a happy ending to a story was a rarity in the dark days of 1942. It had been a rarity for me for six years, while covering the war in Republican Spain, the fall of France, and the invasion of Russia. I had a fine chance to write one, however, to the story of Allied relations in the summer and autumn of 1942.

The relations between the Soviet Union and her western associates had encountered difficulties, amounting by the almost to a crisis. The trouble had begun soon after Foreign Commissar Molotov returned to Moscow in June from his trip to London and Washington, bringing an agreement on the 'urgent tasks of creating a second front in Europe in 1942.' The Soviets made clear immediately that they considered that agreement, or at least wanted to consider it, a promise of a second front. The Allies looked on it as an undertaking to consider the possibility of a second front. As the days passed, with danger mounting in the east and still no second front in the west, the Russians started to harp at their friends.

The hard feelings, which were made evident during Prime Minister Churchill's visit to Moscow in August, Wendell Willkie's visit in September, and in Stalin's' letter to me in October, came to a head in Mid-October over the case of Rudolf Hess. It was the action, rather than the words, of the Allies, in occupying French North Africa, and a second letter from Stalin to me, that provided this otherwise sad tale with its happy ending.

The Hess case, which had been simmering for more than a year after Hitlers aide flew to Scotland and was locked up with scarcely a word by the British, boiled over October 14. On that day, Molotov issued a 'statement of the Soviet government regarding the responsibility of the Hitlerite invaders and their accomplices for the infamies committed by them in the occupied countries of Europe.' In it he named Hess, only after Hitler and Goering, as one of the 'ringleaders of the criminal Hitlerite clique,' and said pointedly:

The Soviet government considers it imperative that any one of the ringleaders of Fascist Germany, who during the course of the war has already fallen into the hands of the authorities of states fighting against Hitlerite Germany, should be brought to trial without delay before a special international tribunal and punished with the full severity of the penal law.

ON the surface, this was a simple and outspoken demand for immediate trial of Hess. Actually, there was much more to it than that. The Russians did want Hess tried and his status as a guest of the British clarified. But more than anything, they wanted a second front, and the Hess case provided another occasion for prodding the British government. Next to that, the Russians were maneuvering for postwar positions, and here was one in which they felt strong.

The back ground of the case went back to January 13, 1942, when the Czech minister to Russia, M. Fierlinger, and the representative of the French National Committee, M. Garreau, sent a note to the Soviet government on behalf of the occupied nations of Europe, Czechoslovakia, France, Poland, Yugoslavia, Norway, Belgium, Greece, Holland, and Luxembourg, giving a joint "declaration regarding punishment for crimes committeed during the war,' and asking the Soviet Union to join in with a statement of German responsibility for such crimes. The note was growing yellow with age, and Mr. Garreau was already back in London, when Molotov pulled it out of its pigeonhole at the foreign commissariat and answered it.

What had happened in the meantime to provoke the answer? In addition to the differences over the second front, which the Russians had come to consider as an open political issue, there had been another exchange of notes. Foreign Secretary Eden sent to Soviet Ambassador Maisky in London an invitation to the Soviet Union to join a United Nations Commission for the investigation of war crimes. The date of that note was important. British authorities said it was sent October 3. The Soviets claimed they received it October 6. Without waiting for a Soviet reply, the British government announced, October 7, in the House of Commons, through the Lord Chancellor, Lord Simon, the details of its plan. It provided for post-war surrender and punishment of war criminals and early establishment of the commission to record crimes and name those responsible.

President Roosevelt announced simultaneously in Washington the United States' readiness to cooperate with Great Britain and the other United Nations in establishing the war crimes commission, and its intention to demand enemy surrender of criminals at the close of the war.

THE Soviet Union was left out of the United Nations' plan until the last moment, and then confronted with a fait accompli. Moreover, its known desire for immediate trial of war criminals was ignored. This point might be argued, on the basis of British and American desire to avoid mass reprisals. But no one could deny Russia, as the country which had suffered the most, the right to a leading place in formation of any plans for punishment of war criminals. That this happened was, on the face of it, a diplomatic blunder. The Soviets did nothing to improve the situation by raising the Hess case so sharply. Allied relations were at their darkest.

In any such international issue, the question, which was rarely raised, but always implied, was: What are you going to do about it? The unspoken answer might be that the Russians would abandon the war, leave the United Nations, and make separate peace with Germany. No one who remembered the Russian about-face of August, 1939, the pact of non-aggression and friendship with Germany, could deny that the Soviets were capable of that abrupt action. In this case the Soviets did not make that threat. But the implied threat was there.

In this case it was the British who took the strong line. There was no doubt that they were prompted by the frequent needling from their Russian allies. They made no effort to keep and mask up over this quarrel.

Britain's firmness was reflected in a speech by Prem, Oct. 26, to the Scotland Conference of Trade Unions, in which he declared, 'Our history and our geographical positions require that we remain a world power, possessing world-wide interests. We will yet play an important role in the world during the war and after it.' This brief extract was published in the Soviet press Nov. 2. Although it did not refer directly to the points at issue, it did indicate Britain's strong attitude. It caused much comment in Moscow.

British Ambassador Clark Kerr called on Stalin Nov. 5 and talked with him for two hours. I was told he brought 'nothing to gladden Stalin's heart.'

WITH matters at this impasse, Stalin made his November 6 address to the meeting of the Moscow Soviet, on the eve of the anniversary, in the great council chamber of the Kremlin. The Soviet position seemed to have softened, the situation looked a little better.

Stalin criticized his allies inferentially, blaming the German gains during the summer on the absence of a second front in the west.

When, however, he came to the essential point—would there, or would there not be a second front—he was more hopeful: 'Yes, there will be, sooner or later there will be one. And it will be not only because we need it, but, and above all, because our allies need it no less than we do.'

'There can be only one conclusion,' Stalin ruled, 'namely, that the Soviets were capable of the Anglo-Soviet-American coalition has every chance of vanquishing the Hitlero-German coalition, and certainly will vanquish it.'

The Russians realized they had made a blunder by pressing the Hess case too hard, in words which one should not apply to an ally.

Then came the news which altered the situation completely. It was conveyed to the Russians by a brief message at the top of the back page of Pravda, November 8

Jerry Is Home Again!

With his green leather, brass studded harness, his gold tooth and his painted-red toe nails—Jerry is a wire haired terrier, the pet of Dr. and Mrs. B. D. Flaugher and was lost last week east of Marion.

Dr. Flaugher placed a notice immediately in the Star Lost Ads, and one of the many Star Want Ad Readers, (who had found Jerry) got in touch with Dr. Flaugher and his pet was soon home again.

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

ASK him from what location he's calling," my father said imperturbably.

Dicky turned back to the telephone and put the question. Then, after listening to the answer, again told Ronald to "wait a second," and turned again to my father.

"From a drug store about two miles from here."

"Downtown, or uptown?"

"Downtown."

"Ah-h!" my father breathed. Then he spoke crisply.

Olga Takes Hint

"Tell him to come up here as quickly as a taxi and bring him," he instructed, and as Dicky turned once more to the telephone, I saw him glance significantly at Philip Reifield. But it was Olga who took the hint most quickly.

"It was a good of you, Charles," she said crisply, "to let us hear all the stirring happenings of this morning. But now we must go back. We have work to do, and besides, that unhappy young man, Ronald, will wish to see you by yourself."

"You have an understanding mind—and heart, Olga," my father said approvingly. He accompanied the three Veritzens to the door and ushered them out, turning back, when he had shut it, to Dicky, who by this time had hung up the receiver.

"Ronald's coming up here directly," Dicky reported, "and wishes to talk to you with only Madge present. He was apologetic to me, but firm."

He quirked a manful eyebrow at Katharine.

Quips With Katharine

"How are you at 'volleywuzzit or cootsies, Katrina?" he asked. "It strikes me that we'd better adjourn to the connecting suite and invite our pals until Ronald has a chance to unburden his."

Katharine settled more comfortably in her chair and ignored contemptuously look at him. It heartened me to see how her spirits were soaring with my father's assurance that it would be only a few more hours before the menace of Ruth Hayes was removed, and the way made clear for her reunion with Jack.

"I'm especially good at both," she assured him. "But I'm most comfortable here, and we surely don't need to move until Ronald is announced."

"Of course not," my father said promptly. "And there is a loose end or two we perhaps can tie up. But first, Richard, did Ronald give you any indication as to why he wanted to see me?"

"No, but he was so terribly excited it seemed to indicate that he had what he thought was information about Marion."

"Or perhaps Carolyn," Katharine suggested.

Will Talk to Harry

"Exactly," my father said. "Information concerning either of them would upset Ronald. But I think before he gets here, I had better talk to Harry—guardedly, of course—and find out if he has any idea why Ronald should be excited."

"Good idea!" Dicky commented. "Shall I call him?"

"Please," my father said, and then we all listened to a one-sided telephone conversation, which, nevertheless, gave us a good idea of what Harry Underwood, Marion's anxious stepfather, was saying.

"Hello!" Dicky began. "You needn't answer this question except by yes or no, but have you any idea why the young man sharing your home should be violently excited this morning? No? Yes, he is. How long since you saw him? So? Well, he's headed this way, asking for a private interview with the Chief. Sure, I'll call you back when I find out what it's all about. So long."

He hung up the receiver and turned back to us.

Not Disturbed Then

"Ronald left the house less than an hour ago, according to Harry," he said, "and he gave no indication whatever of being disturbed at that time. So whatever upset him must have happened since he left the house."

"Therefore," I said, "it didn't come by letter or telegram."

"A very logical deduction," my father said, smiling at me. "And that leaves a puzzle indeed for us."

Katharine rose with decision.

"Come on, Dicky-bird!" she said. "I never was any good at puzzles. Bring on the checkers and let's transfer ourselves to the next apartment."

They went away, I think to my father's secret relief, and then he and I waited in silence until Ronald was announced.

I think my father was as shocked as I was at his ghastly pale face and his terrified excitement. No sooner had the door closed behind him than he rushed up to me and clasped me tightly as if for support.

"Aunt Madge!" he cried hoarsely. "I just saw Marion!"

GUADALCANAL REUNION

KENTON—The long sea lanes that carry American troops and supplies to all corners of the world also brought together two Kenton servicemen on Guadalcanal island in the Solomons. They are Staff Sgt. Joseph E. Teetors, and Albert Conkel. Close friends, they had not seen each other for three years until they met by chance as both were in charge of unloading details at a Guadalcanal beach. Until the two Kenton men arrived simultaneously at a water bag for a drink, neither knew the other was on the island.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING M. D.

Nature Remodeled

IN LOOKING over a druggist's counter the other day the thought occurred to me how many products we use in treating disease not in the strict sense medicines at all. In the old days the medicines used were found in Nature—the leaves of plants, the minerals in the earth.

Nowadays we don't wait for Nature to produce a useful medicine—we synthesize it in a chemical laboratory. Thus we get all the new wonder-working drugs used against infections—the sulfa drugs, Novocaine, which dentists use, aspirin, which you feel perfectly competent to use on yourself, and atabrine, the substitute for quinine in the treatment of malaria which is breaking up the Jap's nappy little dream of a monopoly, are all examples of modern synthetic chemistry.

Fredrich Wohler

My memory wandered back to the young man who was responsible for all this wonder-working—Fredrich Wohler, born in the ancient city of Frankfurt in 1800. Even as a very young man he displayed an unusual gift for chemistry and was accepted as a pupil by the great Swedish chemist, Berzelius.

At that time chemistry was permeated with a doctrine at which we can afford to laugh now. It was the concept of "vital force." Vital force was a kind of curious indescribable force in Nature which was able to create minerals in the rocks, and salts, and the extracts in plants, but which man could never hope to control or imitate.

In short, no chemist should waste his time trying to synthesize anything—to make a new chemical out of two others. That was Nature's business and required the action of the vital force. You could analyze things—break down Nature's work into its component parts. That had been done. But you couldn't build anything up.

Obtains New Compound

Somehow young Wohler did not believe that. When he went to Berlin and got a laboratory of his own, he began to hammer on the question of synthesis.

One chemical fascinated him—cyanic acid and its compounds. It contained nitrogen, which is universally distributed in the products of Nature. And after endless experiments one day in 1828 he was working with ammonium sulfocyanate and he obtained a new compound which turned out to be urea. Here was news—the vital force concept knocked into a cocked hat. Here was a substance that had never been encountered except when it was manufactured by a kidney, and Wohler had produced it from an inorganic salt, by heat and manipulation and no kidney involved at all.

It was revolutionary and it founded modern synthetic chemistry.

Wohler was a great self critic. He told an allegory that the Goddess of Truth was in her house and one day came a great knocking on the door, but she said, "Let them wait, they can knock again." Then suddenly the knocking stopped and the knocker passed on. She went to the window and said, "Oh! It is that lazy fellow, Wohler. He richly deserves his failure since he cared so little to be let in."

The Stars Say—

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, Aug. 31

THE STARS for this day [illegible] encouragement and promise for important operations of a public or private nature. This is a favorable time for work of professional importance with significant promise and cooperation for attaining great results and material success. It may be well to confer with partnership or those more influential who may easily report on and support real merit and substantial propositions, even though they have exceptional ability or speculative combinations. This may demand a general sprucing up or a revision of ways and means, but in the end logic and executive ability should win fine results and satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a really progressive and stabilizing climax to the affairs although they may start out with perplexity, disintegration, change and much speculation as to future trends. But their farsighted tactics, clever executive ability in presenting and promoting innovations of new propositions should win the support of influential personages) with capital as well as friendly interest. Work with confidence and faith, and there should be social as well as professional response to bright ideas and ingenious projects. Ask favors and seek wise counsel.
